Council Okays Transfer Of $18,300 From Water To Sewer Operating Fund

Circleville Council passed two ordinances and tabled a third in legislative action Tuesday during its regular session.

The city fathers approved the transfer of $18,300 from the water works fund to the sanitary sewer fund.

They also passed an ordinance authorizing the city service director to bid for materials for street construction and repair.

Ervin Leist, city public utilities director, explained to council that the transfer of funds enabled the sewer department to operate without an increase in rates to users.

LEIST, in explaining why the public utilities department could not grant free water for one quarter as requested by First Ward Councilman Feb. 4, said the department was not permitted by law to grant free water or reduce rates as long as bonds or interest were due.

He explained that the transfer of funds from the water department to the sewer department was permitted.

The water department has been subsidizing the sewer department recently through the transfer of funds.

Leist explained that without the transfer, sewer rates would have been increased by 33 per cent three years ago.

In addition to the $18,300 transferred to the sewer department, Leist noted that a transfer of five per cent of the funds in the water works operating department was made to the water works improvement and repair funds. He explained that no legislation was necessary for this transfer.

The legislation tabled was an ordinance authorizing the city safety director to advertise for bids for a new car.

The tabling action was presented by John Jenkins, who said that safety or finance committees of the Council had not been told of the ordinance in advance. He suggested that it be referred to the finance committee for study before being presented to council.

Safety Director Robert Adkins explained that funds for the purchase of a new cruiser were budgeted. He urged council to pass the ordinance last night.

Adkins told council that the cruiser he anticipated trading was an "old model 1968", not the one damaged in an accident Tuesday morning. The damaged cruiser will be repaired and the bill paid by the defendant who caused the wreck, the safety director said.

Mayor Richard Gerhardt in a recommendation to City Council, urged that authorization be given to make application for an interest free advance for public works planning for detailed plans for sewerage to meet minimum state requirements.

The mayor pointed out that last spring the Ohio Water Pollution Control board set

Some Changes In Draft Law Expected Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon planners say the draft ultimately could be cut to just a few hundred men a month if enough money and effort are spent on recruiting, improving morale and polishing the services' image.

While more money is important, the officials say a higher pay scale won't be enough alone to attract and hold the volunteers needed even when the Vietnam war ends and U.S. forces are cut by 700,000 men.

"What is needed, they contend, is a multifaceted drive to 'improve morale and job satisfaction,' to burnish the 'overall service image' and stage an intensive recruiting effort.

If this works out, then the draft could be used mostly to obtain doctors and other specialists.

However, some senior Pentagon officials would regard it a victory if the draft—now taking about 33,000 men a month—could be trimmed to 2,000 or 3,000 monthly after the war is ended.

They recall that inductions fell to the 3,000 mark in February 1965, only a few months before the big Vietnam war buildup which led to drafting of as many as 48,000 a month.

Few officials are for a complete abolishment of the draft.

While the Pentagon tries to work out a long-range plan moving in the direction of an all-volunteer force, efforts also are under way to erase draft inequities, chiefly by switching to a lottery system, provided Congress approves.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday this will be one of the first pieces of legislation the new administration will send to Congress. Aides estimated the proposal will go to Capitol Hill within a couple of months.

Claim Coercion Used To Enroll College Students

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A group of students forced an administrator to enroll them "under threat of physical violence" at San Francisco State College, the chancellor of California state colleges indicates.

Gov. Ronald Reagan had disclosed the incident previously but refused to say which campus was involved. Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke hinted Tuesday it was San Francisco State.

Dumke said 38 or 40 students forced their way into the administrators' office and "duress was applied which resulted in his admitting a group of students which he, perhaps, would not have." Neither Dumke nor Reagan would detail the incident.

However, when asked if the illegally enrolled students are still on the campus, Dumke said "My unofficial understanding is that some turned out all right and some of them did not. The condition at that college prior to Dr. Hayakawa's coming was in some state of confusion." Dr. S. I. Hayakawa was named acting president of San Francisco State last December.

Rainy Season Here

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rain-fall in normally arid Los Angeles topped 20 inches for the season Tuesday, making it the wettest "rainy season" here since 1889 when 32 inches were recorded. There are about 20 rainy days and total rainfall of about 10 inches in a normal season, mainly winter months. It already has rained 17 days this year.

Nixon Won't Meet S. Viets

PARIS (AP) — Much as South Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks would appreciate even a few minutes with President Nixon during his visit next week, experienced diplomats think there is virtually no chance of such a meeting.

One explanation is that it would peeve the French.

And to avoid doing so, the diplomats say, seems good enough reason for Nixon to skip an encounter that would not be especially educational for him and would serve mainly to buck up the South Vietnamese regime on its home front.

A meeting between Nixon and a Saigon representative would annoy the French for two reasons.

First, Nixon's scheduled discussion with his peace talks envoy, Henry Cabot Lodge, will take away some of the emphasis from his talks with President Charles de Gaulle. There apparently is no desire on the American side to push this even farther by adding the South Vietnamese to Nixon's conference list.

Second, South Vietnam broke off diplomatic relations with France in 1965. It would be something of a breach of diplomatic courtesy for a visiting chief of state to take official notice of what is technically a non-government as far as his host is concerned.

Burlesque Family Affair For Gramms

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — For the Gramms, burlesque is a family affair but it's an act they can't take home again.

The Gramms sisters, 23-year-old Amber and 19-year-old Paulette, are stars of the $700-a-week act. They do their thing in pasties and G string 15 times a week.

Mother does a tassel act, dad is top banana and 6-year-old Punky is the straight man who sits with the audience insisting he's a midget.

Paulette said she gets nervous only when her mother is in the audience. "It's not because I'm taking my clothes off but because she is watching and would notice a mistake others might miss," said the blonde Paulette.

"Their mother taught the girls everything they know," said Charles Blews, coowner of the Monroe Theater here. The mother, billed as Ava Leigh, was a longtime stripper.

Gene Graham, 46, the father, said he enjoys watching his daughters dance on stage. "The fact they are taking their clothes off is part of the dance. I don't think any more of them taking their clothes off on the stage than most parents would of their kids going to the beach."

But Graham said he'd never show the act in his Bible-belt hometown of Valdosta, Ga. "I don't think people there would understand," he added.

'Gamblers Special' Plane Down In Nevada Desert

California Sues Government, Union Oil Co.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — California is suing four oil firms and the federal government for $1.3 billion on charges that negligence caused the giant ocean oil slick that damaged beaches and killed seals.

A $500 million claim against the Department of Interior was filed personally Tuesday by Charles A. O'Brien, chief deputy California attorney general. O'Brien said an $800 million damage suit would be filed today against Union Oil Co., operator of the ruptured offshore well, and Texaco, Inc., Mobil Oil Co. and Gulf Oil Corp. Union's partners in the federal drilling lease.

The city and county of Santa Barbara and the city of Carpinteria join in the action, O'Brien said. The claim and the suit, he added, ask payment for damage to fish and wildlife and beach cleanup plus general damages including damage to tourist potential.

A special scientific panel dispatched by President Nixon, begins a two-day investigation of the oil spill which reached 800 square miles in size before the well was capped Feb. 7. Now crews are working to relieve pressures that have spewed a new slick into the polluted channel.

Meanwhile, in Washington, plans for former Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall to testify next Monday on the offshore leases and Santa Barbara's oil spill were announced by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Senate air and water pollution subcommittee.

Pick Up 2 Men Walking On Lake

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — A Coast Guard helicopter from Detroit picked up two men today who were trying to walk across Lake Erie to Canada.

The men, missing since last night, are Glen Wilder Jr., 22, and Stanley Williams, 20, both of Ashtabula.

join the search because of drizzle and low clouds, said it would have planes in the air as soon as the weather cleared.

The DC3 plane carrying 32 passengers and 3 crewmen vanished near the California-Nevada border 200 miles northeast of Los Angeles. It was on a pre-dawn flight from Hawthorne to two southern California cities, Burbank and Long Beach.

Jerry Thornburg, deputy commander of the Walker Lake Civil Air Patrol Squadron, said 40 of his group scoured the country from Hawthorne to Mount Montgomery, 40 miles to the south-east.

The airline has refused to disclose the names of passengers. An employee of the airline said the crew consisted of pilot Fred Hall, copilot Ray Haner of Long Beach and a stewardess.

The plane was on the return leg of a junket that had brought people from Burbank and Long Beach to Hawthorne Monday evening for a night in the town's gambling casino.

The plane was operated by Mineral County Airlines which does business as Hawthorne Nevada Airlines and specializes in gambling flights.

Bargain rate flights from California to Nevada are a promotional device often used by the casinos.

The country south and west of Hawthorne, where the search is centered, is barren desert and ragged valleys that end abruptly at the towering east rampart of the Sierra.

Marking the landscape are ghost towns and roads fallen into disuse since the booming gold and silver era of the 1870s.

Congress To Use A-Ban Pact To Fight Missile Net

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee appears to be steering toward prompt approval of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty while at the same time laying more groundwork for a hardened line on antimissile defense.

Questioning of Secretary of State William P. Rogers Tuesday made it clear that in the minds of critics of the controversial Sentinel antiballistic missile system that the defense project and the nuclear treaty are tightly entwined.

Rogers rejected the view that immediate deployment of the Sentinel System would run counter to U.S. pledges under the nonproliferation treaty.

The Sentinel system would use nuclear-armed defensive missiles to destroy enemy missiles.

The Nixon administration halted work on the system two weeks ago after criticism in the Senate and from residents of areas being considered as Sentinel sites.

Laird has indicated work will resume after the Pentagon completes a review of the $5.5-billion system begun by the Johnson administration and approved in the last Congress.

Since there is little doubt the treaty will be ratified, committee members concentrated on how the United States will implement its terms, particularly Article VI, which says, in part:

"Each of the parties to the treaty undertakes to pursue negotiations in good faith on effective measures relating to cessation of the nuclear arms race at an early date and to nuclear disarmament, and on a treaty on general and complete disarmament . . ."

Solon Lashes Foundations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John J. Rooney testified today a political opponent used a tax-exempt foundation "as the conduit for campaign spending" in an effort to unseat him.

"I want to scare you, and through you the people of this country, because I believe that we are up against something that warrants a swift and vigorous crackdown," Rooney told the House Ways and Means Committee.

The panel is studying the tax treatment of foundations as the first item in months-long hearings on the tax code.

Rooney contended Frederick W. Richmond, an opponent in last year's New York Democratic primary, set up the Frederick W. Richmond Foundation in 1962.

Then, "when Mr. Richmond decided he wanted to become a congressman for Brooklyn, the Frederick W. Richmond Foundation began taking on a political tone, and in ways that would make Richmond very attractive politically," Rooney said.

Hint Nixon Got Invitation To Visit Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has refused to knock down speculation that President Nixon already has been invited to visit the Soviet Union.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler was asked Tuesday whether Nixon had been invited to meet with Soviet leaders and said he didn't have anything to report on the subject.

Reminded that was not a denial, Ziegler said:

"I would not discuss anything in relation to this speculation." Talk about an invitation escalated following Nixon's hour-long conference Monday with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin—a session that lasted twice as long as scheduled.

In his most recent news conference, Nixon scoffed at "instant summits" but indicated he would be glad to talk with Soviet leaders later after full advance preparations.

There was no indication whether an invitation—if one was made—was specific or couched in vague diplomatic terms that simply left the matter open.

Ziegler flatly ruled out the possibility Nixon would add Moscow to the itinerary of his five-nation Western European trip that starts Sunday.

No American president has ever visited the Soviet Union. An invitation to Dwight D. Eisenhower was canceled in 1960 after the U2 spy plane was shot down over Russia.

Soviet leaders were believed to have been interested in meeting with former President Johnson in hopes of offsetting criticism for the invasion of Czechoslovakia, a goal some say they still hope to achieve by an early Nixon visit.

Ziegler also was questioned about correspondence between Nixon and French President Charles de Gaulle, one of the European leaders who will be host to the chief executive next week. Ziegler said he couldn't discuss presidential correspondence.

White House sources revealed, however, that Nixon and De Gaulle have been in touch by mail and that former President Eisenhower also has been corresponding with de Gaulle. Although no one was willing to talk about the contents of the various letters, it was said that these exchanges have occurred:

De Gaulle wrote Nixon upon the occasion of his inauguration and the president dispatched a letter to the French leader "in the last few days." The possibility remained open that there had been other letters, not disclosed, in the interval.

Eisenhower, convalescing at Walter Reed Army Medical Center from a series of heart attacks, received a De Gaulle letter recently and telephoned Nixon Tuesday morning to discuss it with him.

The letters from Paris to Nixon and Eisenhower were described as "totally separate." Obviously, however, the content of De Gaulle's letter to Eisenhower was such that the former chief executive felt impelled to pass it on quickly to Nixon.

Supreme Court Backs Portsmouth

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today reversed in part a State Board of Tax Appeals ruling that had substantially reduced local government fund allocations to the city of Portsmouth.

In another case the court affirmed a decision that cut in half the amount of local government funds awarded to the city of Painesville.

Portsmouth appealed a tax board decision allocating the undivided local government fund for Scioto County for 1968, which substantially reduced the amount given to Portsmouth by the county budget commission.

Mistrial Ruled In Auto Suit

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The judge, impatient because he couldn't find the defendant in an auto suit, decided to start without him.

Then he spotted Clarence Butcher in a crowd of 14 people. "Where have you been?" he asked Butcher, of Akron.

"Sitting back there with all those people," replied Butcher. He said he had been reading a magazine. Summit County Common Pleas Judge Edward Mahoney declared a mistrial Tuesday. The 14 people were the jury.

Bill Provides Bigger Split Of Sales Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to increase the amount of sales tax revenue going into the local government fund has been introduced in the Ohio Senate.

The bill, whose main sponsor is Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati also would reform the way the money is distributed to counties, municipalities and townships.

Maloney, chairman of the interim committee on county budget commissions which came up with the proposed legislation, insisted that the legislature must establish basic guidelines for its distribution if more money is put in the fund.

In committee meetings he often referred to the distribution procedure as "nothing more than a grab bag by local governments."

The bill, which was introduced Tuesday, would tie the amount of state sales tax revenue in the local government fund to annual increases in the amount collected.

Under the bill, the fund would continue to receive a minimum annual state contribution of $24 million in sales tax revenue. It provides that future state contributions also would include 5 per cent of annual increases in state sales tax revenue figured from the base year of 1968.

Since it is estimated that the sales tax revenue in fiscal 1969 will range from $575 to $600 million, the revenue going into the local government fund would increase about $4.7 to $5.6 million.

The local government fund, which is divided among counties, municipalities and townships by county budget commissions, contained about $71 million in 1968. In addition to sales tax revenue, the fund contained about $47 million from the state collected intangible personal property taxes.

Nixon Transfers OEO Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Congress today he is stripping the Office of Economic Opportunity of two major programs—Headstart and the Job Corps—which account for about half of the $2 billion annual budget for antipoverty efforts.

In a special message, however, Nixon promised to keep OEO alive as an "incubator" for experimental programs.

And he went on record as calling for a national commitment aimed at "providing all American children an opportunity for healthful and stimulating development during the first five years of life."

2 Sharp Vietnam Battles Reported

SAIGON (AP) — American Air Cavalrymen clashed briefly today with North Vietnamese troops who military sources said were moving into attack positions 35 miles northeast of Saigon.

Sharp fighting also was reported 18 miles north of Saigon, in the Mekong Delta south of the capital, and along the jungle trails from Laos and the A Shau valley, west of Da Nang and Hue.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported killing 145 enemy soldiers at a cost of six Americans and 13 South Vietnamese killed, 13 Americans and 33 South Vietnamese wounded and seven South Vietnamese missing.

Allied troops also uncovered many more tons of rice and munitions near the Cambodian border, another indication the enemy is still trying to stock up for an offensive in the Saigon area, military spokesmen said.

The American Air Cavalrymen were riding helicopter gunships looking for troops from the North Vietnamese 5th Division in the triple-canopied jungle of War Zone D. Suddenly they spotted several men in an opening and cut into them with machine guns.

A short while later, Air Cavalrymen on the ground discovered the bodies of 15 North Vietnamese killed by the gunships. Two and a half hours later, more Air Cavalrymen were landed to pursue the enemy.

A U.S. spokesman said American bombers and artillery sent the North Vietnamese fleeing through the jungle, and eventually all contact was lost during the afternoon.

Military sources said troops of North Vietnam's 5th Division are moving through War Zone D to join up with an independent regiment and two sapper battalions for an attack, most likely on major allied bases and headquarters just north of Saigon.

Heavy Snow Hits Southwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy snow piled into mountain sections of Arizona and Utah today as a new winter storm churned across the southwest.

Flagstaff, in north-central Arizona, was blanketed with 5 inches of snow during the night. Warnings of additional heavy snow were in effect for that portion of Arizona and the mountains of New Mexico as well.

The weather bureau indicated the storm likely would extend into Colorado and western Texas by nightfall.

Rain washed an area from central California through southern New Mexico below the snow belt.

The fringes of a storm that dumped heavy snows over the Southeast during the weekend scattered snow and freezing drizzle across Maine and into parts of southern New England before dawn.

High winds churned up rough seas and continued to batter the midsection of the eastern seaboard from North Carolina to New Jersey.

Clear and dry weather prevailed through a large part of the midcontinent, marred only by a light dusting of snow in sections of the Northern Plains.

A frosty chill extended over much of the Southeast and once again squeezed temperatures down to the 40s through central Florida.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 10 below zero at Havre, Mont., to 61 at Key West, Fla.

In another case the court affirmed a decision that cut in half the amount of local government funds awarded to the city of Painesville.

Portsmouth appealed a tax board decision allocating the undivided local government fund for Scioto County for 1968, which substantially reduced the amount given to Portsmouth by the county budget commission.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A group of students forced an administrator to enroll them "under threat of physical violence" at San Francisco State College, the chancellor of California state colleges indicates.

Gov. Ronald Reagan had disclosed the incident previously but refused to say which campus was involved. Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke hinted Tuesday it was San Francisco State.

Dumke said 38 or 40 students forced their way into the administrators' office and "duress was applied which resulted in his admitting a group of students which he, perhaps, would not have." Neither Dumke nor Reagan would detail the incident.

However, when asked if the illegally enrolled students are still on the campus, Dumke said "My unofficial understanding is that some turned out all right and some of them did not. The condition at that college prior to Dr. Hayakawa's coming was in some state of confusion." Dr. S. I. Hayakawa was named acting president of San Francisco State last December.

Hint Nixon Got Invitation To Visit Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has refused to knock down speculation that President Nixon already has been invited to visit the Soviet Union.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler was asked Tuesday whether Nixon had been invited to meet with Soviet leaders and said he didn't have anything to report on the subject.

Reminded that was not a denial, Ziegler said: "I wouldn't discuss anything in relation to this speculation."

Talk about an invitation escalated following Nixon's hour-long conference Monday with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin—a session that lasted twice as long as scheduled.

In his most recent news conference, Nixon scoffed at "instant summitry" but indicated he would be glad to talk with Soviet leaders later after full advance preparations.

There was no indication whether an invitation—if one was made—was specific or couched in vague diplomatic terms that simply left the matter open.

Ziegler flatly ruled out the possibility Nixon would add Moscow to the itinerary of his five-nation Western European trip that starts Sunday.

No American president has ever visited the Soviet Union. An invitation to Dwight D. Eisenhower was canceled in 1960 after the U2 spy plane was shot down over Russia.

Soviet leaders were believed to have been interested in meeting with former President Johnson in hopes of offsetting criticism for the invasion of Czechoslovakia, a goal some say they still hope to achieve by an early Nixon visit.

Ziegler also was questioned about correspondence between Nixon and French President Charles de Gaulle, one of the European leaders who will be host to the chief executive next week. Ziegler said he couldn't discuss presidential correspondence.

White House sources revealed, however, that Nixon and de Gaulle have been in touch by mail and that former President Eisenhower also has been corresponding with de Gaulle. Although no one was willing to talk about the contents of the various letters, it was said that these exchanges have occurred.

De Gaulle wrote Nixon upon the occasion of his inauguration and the president dispatched a letter to the French leader "in the last few days." The possibility remained open that there had been other letters, not disclosed, in the interval.

Eisenhower, convalescing at Walter Reed Army Medical Center from a series of heart attacks, received a De Gaulle letter recently and telephoned Nixon Tuesday morning to discuss it with him.

The letters from Paris to Nixon and Eisenhower were described as "totally separate." Obviously, however, the content of De Gaulle's letter to Eisenhower was such that the former chief executive felt impelled to pass it on quickly to Nixon.

Roundtown

MOST offices in the county courthouse have announced they will close noon Friday until Monday in observance of Washington's birthday.

One exception will be the Veterans Service Office which will remain open on regular schedule both Friday and Saturday.

The office of Pickaway County Superintendent of Schools, George D. McDowell, will be open all day Friday and closed Saturday.

Nixon Transfers OEO Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Congress today he is stripping the Office of Economic Opportunity of two major programs—Headstart and the Job Corps—which account for about half of the $2 billion annual budget for antipoverty efforts.

In a special message, however, Nixon promised to keep OEO alive as an "incubator" for experimental programs.

And he went on record as calling for a national commitment aimed at "providing all American children an opportunity for healthful and stimulating development during the first five years of life."

Liquor Law Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislation permitting the state to confiscate vehicles bringing out of state liquor into Ohio will be sought by the Department of Liquor Control.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The judge, impatient because he couldn't find the defendant in an auto suit, decided to start without him.

Then he spotted Clarence Butcher in a crowd of 14 people. "Where have you been?" he asked Butcher, of Akron.

"Sitting back there with all those people," replied Butcher. He said he had been reading a magazine.

Summit County Common Pleas Judge Edward Mahoney declared a mistrial Tuesday.

The 14 people were the jury.

down minimum standards which Circleville does not meet.

The board established deadlines for meeting these standards. "Our first deadline was met when we completed general plans by Jan. 1, 1969. The next deadline is Jan. 1, 1970 at which time we will need to have completed detailed plans for secondary treatment of sewer waste," the mayor explained.

"THE expected cost of such detailed plans could run as high as $40,000 depending on site location and other variables," Gerhardt pointed out.

"For the last three years the sewer treatment plant has been operating at a loss. Operations have been able to continue only because of substantial transfers from the water works accounts. It can thus be readily seen that funds must be obtained from some source to finance the planning stages for the sewer treatment plant improvements," he explained.

Advance planning funds can be obtained from the federal government. The funds are in the form of an interest free loan which must be paid back when bonds for sewer plant construction and improvement are sold.

The mayor recommended the action be discussed at the next service committee meeting and presented to council at the first meeting in March.

Mayor Gerhardt also advised council that he had contacted county commissioners and had been informed that the county had no immediate plans to implement a county-wide building code.

He urged council to provide funds to implement and enforce the city code. He requested an appropriation ordinance which was tabled at the last meeting, be passed.

COUNCILMAN John Jenkins asked that all council members be given a list of streets and alleys to be repaired or resurfaced this year.

Jenkins noted that he had received a number of complaints on the manner in which streets and alleys were being repaired with cold mix material.

"There are three men on a truck and they are just throwing blacktop in the holes without rolling or tamping them," Jenkins said, directing his remarks to Mayor Gerhardt. "They aren't even cleaning out the holes."

Mayor Gerhardt told Jenkins that "cold mix patching" is only a temporary measure, and that the holes would later be cleaned and repaired properly.

In answer to Jenkins' request for a list of streets to be repaired, the mayor noted that councilmen had never turned in a list of streets needing repair in their districts to the service department.

Councilman Noble Barr asked Safety Director Adkins why the light at the intersection of Mound and Scioto St. was not covered or removed since the four-way stop signs had been installed at the intersection.

Adkins noted the light would be removed as soon as possible. Councilman David Goldschmidt is vacationing in Hawaii and was not present at the meeting.

Boyd Horn, David Crawford, Keith Wagner, Harold Clifton, Barr and Jenkins, Council President Joe Bell and council clerk Robert Shadley were all present.

Deputy Nabs Thieves In Get Away Try

Three suspected thieves were apprehended by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Hoover about 1:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Hoover had been investigating an auto accident when he received a report that three men involved in a robbery at Chillicothe were headed north into Pickaway County.

The deputy headed south on Route 104, about two miles south of Route 316 he spotted the car described by Chillicothe authorities headed north.

The car was tailed about four miles until a second cruiser sent by the Franklin County Sheriff's Department, was spotted headed south. At this point Hoover turned on the cruiser's siren and red light and stopped the suspected car.

The three men, all of Columbus, were ages 17, 18 and 19 years old.

Hoover stated that the men had robbed the Pureous Market in Chillicothe. They had allegedly attempted to buy a bag of potato chips. When the clerk opened the cash register to deposit their money, one of the men pushed her to the side and grabbed the $10 and $20 bills.

Attack On Israeli Jet May Bring Reaction

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel warned Arab nations and airlines today they must "take immediate measures to prevent further attacks on Israel's air routes." It claimed the moral right and ability to break up guerrilla raids at any place.

Transport Minister Moshe Carmel outlined the government's position before the Knesset, Israel's Parliament, in Jerusalem in the wake of the Arab attack on an El Al jetliner in Switzerland Tuesday.

"Israel's air routes are of the highest security priority," he said. "Israel has the full moral right and operational ability to take all necessary defensive measures at any place to break up the ring of terrorism on the airways and assure that Israel has completely free air traffic."

He singled out neighboring Lebanon and declared the government in Beirut had the duty to "uproot any nest of piracy from its territory."

Carmel's words received close attention throughout Israel. He was the first high-ranking government official to blame Lebanon for the Arab attack on an Israeli jet at Athens in December. Israeli commandos subsequently struck Beirut's International Airport and destroyed 13 Lebanese planes.

Carmel said the hijack of an El Al plane to Algiers last July and the attacks in Athens and Zurich all originated in Israel's view, from Lebanon. He pointed out the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine took full credit for the Swiss incident in a statement published in Beirut Tuesday.

"The responsibility for such acts is not only with the perpetrators, but with the Arab states in which these acts are being planned and where the terrorists are being equipped," Carmel said.

He warned of "complete chaos among the airways of the Middle East unless" the attacks are halted and added: "Safeguarding air safety is important not only to Israel but the Arabs want to keep their routes open. They should take immediate action."

Carmel had hinted earlier that there might be retaliation for the machine gunning of El Al's Boeing 720 at Zurich's airport. Six persons aboard the plane were wounded. Of the four raiders, one was shot dead and the others, including a woman, were arrested.

The transport minister told the Tel Aviv newspaper Maariv: "The Arab governments who are concerned with preserving the international airlinks of their countries would do well to hold back the saboteurs, and thus avoid the deterioration and destruction of the airways of the Middle East."

Mayo Expects Government To Preserve Small Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal government will stay out of the red this year and next despite creeping costs and a shrinking surplus, according to Budget Director Robert P. Mayo.

Mayo testified Tuesday before the joint Senate-House Economic Committee, which continued its hearings today with testimony from Treasury Secretary David Kennedy.

Mayo told the committee that government outlays—especially the cost of interest on the federal debt—apparently will exceed the budget estimates made by former President Johnson for both fiscal 1969 and 1970.

This prompted speculation that the slender $2.4 billion surplus bequeathed by Johnson might skid into a deficit before the 1969 fiscal year ends June 30. Mayo told a reporter he did not intend to give such an impression.

"I think we'll be able to preserve a surplus, though not necessarily a very robust one," he said.

A deficit is always possible, he conceded, "but I do not expect it." He said the small surplus "could be either doubled or wiped out if the receipts estimate were off by as little as 1 1/2 per cent." A slightly larger error could cancel out the $3.4 billion 1970 surplus as well, but Mayo indicated he expects to stay in black ink.

So far the committee, though dominated by Democrats, has treated the Nixon men gently, even cordially. There have been critical comments, however, on the number of former bankers among Nixon's appointees to economic policymaking positions.

Kennedy is the former board chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and several of his aides were banking officials.

All the administration witnesses so far supported extension of the 10 per cent surtax beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration date, though President Nixon—who made campaign speeches calling for its elimination or reduction—has not declared an official position.

Mayo testified flatly that it is "our administration's current position" to support the extension, and hinted that he would like to see Congress act promptly.

Trial Starts For Alleged Kroger Robber

Trial of Donnie Farthing, charged with aiding in the Nov. 11, 1968 armed robbery of Krogers, began in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Wednesday morning with the convening of a three judge panel.

The three judges are Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer, Fayette County Common Pleas Judge Evelyn Coffman and retired Ross County Judge Howard Goldsberry. The three judge panel, which will try the case in place of a jury, was requested by the defense attorney.

According to the charges pending, Farthing aided and abetted David Montgomery in the armed robbery of Krogers on Lancaster Pike Nov. 11. Kroger Manager Keith Reeves testified on the witness stand that the robbers took $791 from his store. Reeves stated that Farthing was involved in the robbery.

David Montgomery, alleged leader of the group, was called before the court Wednesday morning for identification purposes.

MONTGOMERY, who was also charged with leading the Nov. 22, 1968 jail riot, was brought from the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus to testify. Montgomery had originally been sentenced to Mansfield State Reformatory but had been transferred to the penitentiary at the request of reformatory authorities.

At the reformatory, Montgomery would have been required to serve about three years before parole. Due to his transfer to the penitentiary he must serve about six years of his sentence before parole.

Commenting on the increased jail sentence, Montgomery stated that he believed he would have nothing to lose by attempting another escape while in Pickaway County. The heavy karate expert is presently under guard by three armed deputies, and wears handcuffs and leg shackles while in court.

Daniel Hawks, also charged in the robbery, has been returned to the county to testify. Hawks remains under armed guard following his statements that he might attempt another jail break.

The fourth person involved in the robbery, Montgomery's wife, was tried by juvenile court and sent to her home in Narrows, Va., on probation.

Testifying against Farthing at the morning session, in addition to Reeves, were Don Mallow, co-manager of Krogers, Mrs. Charles Harrison, a customer in the store at the time of the robbery and arresting officer Robert Detty of Chillicothe.

FOLLOWING the opening of the trial, County Prosecutor Roy Huffer led the court on a brief inspection of the scene of the robbery.

Court recessed at noon.

Replacement For Bliss Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of Maryland Congressman Rogers C. B. Morton and former football coach Charles "Bud" Wilkinson were prominent today in speculation over a new Republican national chairman.

President Nixon, however, apparently intends to wait until returning from his European trip early March before naming a replacement for Ray Bliss.

Bliss, who served as national chairman for four years, told Nixon in a letter released by the White House Tuesday that he plans to resign by mid-April and return to his insurance business in Akron, Ohio.

Morton aides said he remains in the dark about whether he will be offered the assignment. Morton himself declined comment.

A Nixon associate who predicted shortly after the November election that Bliss was on his way out, named Morton and Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach and now GOP national committee man from that state, as front-runners.

This associate said Wilkinson, now serving the Nixon administration as an advisor primarily on youth affairs, tentatively was offered the job at one point but the signals were changed.

"As of now," he said, "I think Morton has the inside track. But I wouldn't rule out Wilkinson or even somebody else."

Bill For Ohio 3rd Parties Draws Fire From Chairman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to make it easier for minority parties to get on the ballot has drawn critical comments from Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion.

Turner, chairman of the Senate Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee, said he is worried that current restrictions may be lifted to the point where coalition government would result.

His committee heard testimony Tuesday from five minority political parties during the bill's first hearing.

"I believe in the majority form of government so you can affix political responsibility," Turner said. "Coalition governments just do not work."

The committee is considering a bill recommended by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown that would reduce to 10 per cent of the vote cast for governor at the last election the number of signatures needed for a new party to qualify for the ballot.

The state law requiring 15 per cent of the vote was declared unconstitutional last October by the U.S. Supreme Court.

All of the minor parties testifying Tuesday said 10 per cent is still too high.

And the American Civil Liberties Union of Ohio indicated that if minor parties are not given easy access to the Ohio ballot, the state's election laws will again be challenged in court.

Jerry Gordon, Cleveland attorney representing the ACLU, said the 10 per cent figure would be "clearly unconstitutional."

He said this would mean that a new party would have to gather 400,000 valid signatures.

Gordon suggested that the number of signatures required be equal to one-tenth of 1 per cent of the vote cast for governor, with a maximum of 10,000 signatures.

He said 42 states have a requirement of 1 per cent or less and that no state has a requirement higher than 5 per cent.

Davis received a 35-year pin and Heffner a 50-year pin.

Initiated into the lodge last night were C. Fred Davis, Roland Featheringham, Jeff Lutz, Paul Adams, William Trego, Forrest Easterday Jr., David Sealock, John Blackburn and Paul Berrigan.

The car can be identified by a heavily damaged right front fender, Hoover stated.

The vehicle struck a pickup truck driven by Robert Townsend of Westerfield, and then proceeded on at a high rate of speed without stopping to see if anyone was hurt, according to Hoover.

down minimum standards which Circleville does not meet.
The board established deadlines for meeting these standards. "Our first deadline was met when we completed general plans by Jan. 1, 1969. The next deadline is Jan. 1, 1970 at which time we will need to have completed detailed plans for secondary treatment of sewer waste," the mayor explained.

"THE expected cost of such detailed plans could run as high as $40,000 depending on site location and other variables," Gerhardt pointed out.

"For the last three years the sewer treatment plant has been operating at a loss. Operations have been able to continue only because of substantial transfers from the water works accounts. It can thus be readily seen that funds must be obtained from some source to finance the planning stages for the sewer treatment plant improvements," he explained.

Advance planning funds can be obtained from the federal government. The funds are in the form of an interest free loan which must be paid back when bonds for sewer plant construction and improvement are sold.

The mayor recommended the action be discussed at the next service committee meeting and presented to council at the first meeting in March.

Mayor Gearhardt also advised council that he had contacted county commissioners and had been informed that the county had no immediate plans to implement a county-wide building code.

He urged council to provide funds to implement and enforce the city code. He requested an appropriation ordinance which was tabled at the last meeting, be passed.

COUNCILMAN John Jenkins asked that all council members be given a list of streets and alleys to be repaired or resurfaced this year.

Jenkins noted that he had received a number of complaints on the manner in which streets and alleys were being repaired with cold mix material.

"There are three men on a truck and they are just throwing blacktop in the holes without rolling or tamping them," Jenkins said, directing his remarks to Mayor Gerhardt. "They aren't even cleaning out the holes."

Mayor Gerhardt told Jenkins that "cold mix patching" is only a temporary measure, and that the holes would later be cleaned and repaired properly.

In answer to Jenkins' request for a list of streets to be repaired, the mayor noted that councilmen had never turned in a list of streets needing repair in their districts to the service department.

Councilman Noble Barr asked Safety Director Adkins why the light at the intersection of Mound and Scioto St. was not covered or removed since the four-way stop signs had been installed at the intersection.

Adkins noted the light would be removed as soon as possible. Councilman David Goldschmidt is vacationing in Hawaii and was not present at the meeting.

Boyd Horn, David Crawford, Keith Wagner, Harold Clifton, Barr and Jenkins, Council President Joe Bell and council clerk Robert Shadley were all present.

Deputy Nabs Thieves In Get Away Try

Three suspected thieves were apprehended by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Hoover about 1:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Hoover had been investigating an auto accident when he received a report that three men involved in a robbery at Chillicothe were headed north into Pickaway County.

The deputy headed south on Route 104, about two miles south of Route 316 he spotted the car described by Chillicothe authorities headed north.

The car was tailed about four miles until a second cruiser sent by the Franklin County Sheriff's Department, was spotted headed south. At this point Hoover turned on the cruiser's siren and red light and stopped the suspected car.

The three men, all of Columbus, were ages 17, 18 and 19 years old.

Hoover stated that the men had robbed the Pureaus Market in Chillicothe. They had allegedly attempted to buy a bag of potato chips. When the clerk opened the cash register to deposit their money, one of the men pushed her to the side and grabbed the $10 and $20 bills.

Attack On Israeli Jet May Bring Reaction

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel warned Arab nations and airlines today they must "take immediate measures to prevent further attacks on Israel's air routes." It claimed the moral right and ability to break up guerrilla raids at any place.

Transport Minister Moshe Carmel outlined the government's position before the Knesset, Israel's Parliament, in Jerusalem in the wake of the Arab attack on an El Al jetliner in Switzerland Tuesday.

"Israel's air routes are of the highest security priority," he said. "Israel has the full moral right and operational ability to take all necessary defensive measures at any place to break up the ring of terrorism on the airways and assure that Israel has completely free air traffic."

He singled out neighboring Lebanon and declared the government in Beirut had the duty to "uproot any nest of piracy from its territory."

Carmel's words received close attention throughout Israel. He was the first high-ranking government official to blame Lebanon for the Arab attack on an Israeli jet at Athens in December. Israeli commandos subsequently struck Beirut's International Airport and destroyed 13 Lebanese planes.

Carmel said the hijack of an El Al plane to Algiers last July and the attacks in Athens and Zurich all originated in Israel's view, from Lebanon. He pointed out the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine took full credit for the Swiss incident in a statement published in Beirut Tuesday.

"The responsibility for such acts is not only with the perpetrators, but with the Arab states in which these acts are being planned and where the terrorists are being equipped," Carmel said.

He warned of "complete chaos among the airways of the Middle East unless" the attacks are halted and added: "Safeguarding air safety is important not only to Israel but the Arabs want to keep their routes open. They should take immediate action."

Carmel had hinted earlier that there might be retaliation for the machine gunning of El Al's Boeing 720 at Zurich's airport. Six persons aboard the plane were wounded. Of the four raiders, one was shot dead and the others, including a woman, were arrested.

The transport minister told the Tel Aviv newspaper Maariv: "The Arab governments who are concerned with preserving the international airlinks of their countries would do well to hold back the saboteurs, and thus avoid the deterioration and destruction of the airways of the Middle East."

Mayo Expects Government To Preserve Small Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal government will stay out of the red this year and next despite creeping costs and a shrinking surplus, according to Budget Director Robert P. Mayo.

Mayo testified Tuesday before the joint Senate-House Economic Committee, which continued its hearings today with testimony from Treasury Secretary David Kennedy.

Mayo told the committee that government outlays—especially the cost of interest on the federal debt—apparently will exceed the budget estimates made by former President Johnson for both fiscal 1969 and 1970.

This prompted speculation that the slender $2.4 billion surplus bequeathed by Johnson might slide into a deficit before the 1969 fiscal year ends June 30. Mayo told a reporter he did not intend to give such an impression.

"I think we'll be able to preserve a surplus, though not necessarily a very robust one," he said.

A deficit is always possible, he conceded, "but I do not expect it." He said the small surplus "could be either doubled or wiped out if the receipts estimate were off by as little as 1 1/2 per cent." A slightly larger error could cancel out the $3.4 billion 1970 surplus as well, but Mayo indicated he expects to stay in black ink.

So far the committee, though dominated by Democrats, has treated the Nixon men gently, even cordially. There have been critical comments, however, on the number of former bankers among Nixon's appointees to economic policymaking positions.

Kennedy is the former board chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and several of his aides were banking officials.

All the administration witnesses so far supported extension of the 10 per cent surtax beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration date, though President Nixon—who made campaign speeches calling for its elimination or reduction—has not declared an official position.

Mayo testified flatly that it is "our administration's current position" to support the extension, and hinted that he would like to see Congress act promptly.

Trial Starts For Alleged Kroger Robber

Trial of Donnie Farthing, charged with aiding in the Nov. 11, 1968 armed robbery of Krogers, began in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Wednesday morning with the convening of a three judge panel.

The three judges are Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer, Fayette County Common Pleas Judge Evelyn Coffman and retired Ross County Judge Howard Goldsberry. The three judge panel, which will try the case in place of a jury, was requested by the defense attorney.

According to the charges pending, Farthing aided and abetted David Montgomery in the armed robbery of Krogers on Lancaster Pike Nov. 11. Kroger Manager Keith Reeves testified on the witness stand that the robbers took $791 from his store. Reeves stated that Farthing was involved in the robbery.

David Montgomery, alleged leader of the group, was called before the court Wednesday morning for identification purposes.

MONTGOMERY, who was also charged with leading the Nov. 22, 1968 jail riot, was brought from the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus to testify. Montgomery had originally been sentenced to Mansfield State Reformatory but had been transferred to the penitentiary at the request of reformatory authorities.

At the reformatory, Montgomery would have been required to serve about three years before parole. Due to his transfer to the penitentiary he must serve about six years of his sentence before parole.

Commenting on the increased jail sentence, Montgomery stated that he believed he would have nothing to lose by attempting another escape while in Pickaway County. The heavy karate expert is presently under guard by three armed deputies, and wears handcuffs and leg shackles while in court.

Daniel Hawks, also charged in the robbery, has been returned to the county to testify. Hawks remains under armed guard following his statements that he might attempt another jail break.

The fourth person involved in the robbery, Montgomery's wife, was tried by juvenile court and sent to her home in Narrows, Va., on probation.

Testifying against Farthing at the morning session, in addition to Reeves, were Don Mallow, co-manager of Krogers, Mrs. Charles Harrison, a customer in the store at the time of the robbery and arresting officer Robert Detty of Chillicothe.

Xenia Woman 'Theme Girl' 30 Years Ago

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The past 30 years have been kind to the figure of Mrs. Ery Nutter, who as Zo Dell Lantis was the theme girl of the Golden Gate International Exposition.

Now the wife of a manufacturer in Xenia, Ohio, she was on hand Tuesday with 60 others for a 30th anniversary celebration of the fair and reported she still measured 34-24-35, at 52 years.

Also present was Douglas Corrigan, who started to fly from Brooklyn, N. Y., to California and landed, instead, in Ireland.

The fair was held on Treasure Island dredged from San Francisco Bay for that purpose. It now is a naval base.

HUAC Changed; Now It's HCIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities officially has a new name and a new mandate despite the opposition of liberals who wanted to abolish it or attach it to the Judiciary Committee.

The House voted 305 to 79 Tuesday to change the old and controversial committee to the House Committee on Internal Security.

The resolution also charged the committee to work in the field of "Communist and other subversive activities affecting the internal security of the United States." HUAC's jurisdiction was simply "un-American activities."

NEED A CLUBHOUSE—An elk herd runs through the powdery snow near Antelope Creek northeast of Gunnison, Colo., as thousands of elk and deer come down from the 30 below cold of the upper elevations. An estimated 1,300 elk and 3,000 deer "migrated south."

Bill For Ohio 3rd Parties Draws Fire From Chairman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to make it easier for minority parties to get on the ballot has drawn critical comments from Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion.

Turner, chairman of the Senate Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee, said he is worried that current restrictions may be lifted to the point where coalition government would result.

His committee heard testimony Tuesday from five minority political parties during the bill's first hearing.

"I believe in the majority form of government so you can affix political responsibility," Turner said. "Coalition governments just do not work."

The committee is considering a bill recommended by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown that would reduce to 10 per cent of the vote cast for governor at the last election the number of signatures needed for a new party to qualify for the ballot.

The state law requiring 15 per cent of the vote was declared unconstitutional last October by the U.S. Supreme Court.

All of the minor parties testifying Tuesday said 10 per cent is still too high.

And the American Civil Liberties Union of Ohio indicated that if minor parties are not given easy access to the Ohio ballot, the state's election laws will again be challenged in court.

Jerry Gordon, Cleveland attorney representing the ACLU, said the 10 per cent figure would be "clearly unconstitutional." He said this would mean that a new party would have to gather 400,000 valid signatures.

Gordon suggested that the number of signatures required be equal to one-tenth of 1 per cent of the vote cast for governor, with a maximum of 10,000 signatures.

He said 42 states have a requirement of 1 per cent or less and that no state has a requirement higher than 5 per cent.

Stock Market Inches Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — A mild rally braked two days of downturn on the stock market this morning.

Trading was moderate, with advances and declines just about even.

The Dow Jones industrial average, clipped for 20 points over the past two days, by noon had inched back to 931.87, up 1.05. It had been up 2.11 at 11 a.m.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, down 4.5 points at opening, was unchanged at 350.7 at noon. Industrials were up .9, rails were off .6, and utilities dipped .3.

Analysts said the mild upswing was technical and expected in light of the steep declines Monday and Tuesday.

Prices were generally higher among the active issues on the American Stock Exchange.

Officers Admit Breaking Rules

Deadly Gas Claims 8, Dissipates

CRETE, Neb. (AP) — Residents began returning to their homes today after fleeing from deadly ammonia gas that spread like fog from a tank car in a train derailment.

Eight persons died, three of them unidentified transients aboard the train who were found in the tangled wreckage, railroad officials said.

Nineteen cars of a 94-car Denver-to-Chicago Burlington freight train left the rails Tuesday at the west edge of this community of 3,500.

The derailling cars struck three 40,000-gallon tank cars of anhydrous ammonia, rupturing one of them with a shattering explosion that hurled chunks of twisted steel into yards on each side of the right-of-way.

The ammonia spread like a deadly ground fog.

Sheriff Seeks Car Involved In Hit-Skip Accident

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies are looking for a maroon Corvette involved in a hit-skip auto accident on Route 23 about one mile north of Route 762 at 12:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Driver of the car was a young man, according to Deputy Robert Hoover, who stated that a young woman was supposed to have been with him at the time.

The car can be identified by a heavily damaged right front fender, Hoover stated.

The vehicle struck a pickup truck driven by Robert Townsend of Westerfield, and then proceeded on at a high rate of speed without stopping to see if anyone was hurt, according to Hoover.

Replacement For Bliss Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of Maryland Congressman Rogers C. B. Morton and former football coach Charles "Bud" Wilkinson were prominent today in speculation over a new Republican national chairman.

President Nixon, however, apparently intends to wait until returning from his European trip early March before naming a replacement for Ray Bliss.

Bliss, who served as national chairman for four years, told Nixon in a letter released by the White House Tuesday that he plans to resign by mid-April and return to his insurance business in Akron, Ohio.

Morton aides said he remains in the dark about whether he will be offered the assignment. Morton himself declined comment.

A Nixon associate who predicted shortly after the November election that Bliss was on his way out, named Morton and Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach and now GOP national committeeman from that state, as front-runners.

This associate said Wilkinson, now serving the Nixon administration as an advisor primarily on youth affairs, tentatively was offered the job at one point but the signals were changed.

"As of now," he said, "I think Morton has the inside track. But I wouldn't rule out Wilkinson or even somebody else."

NEW YORK (AP) — The rest of the world does not particularly admire America's claims to moral grandeur, but it does admire America's business efficiency.

"We do not see how you can get so much productivity per man hour," a foreigner said to me recently. "It is fantastic."

My curiosity aroused by his remark, I set out to find the secret behind our success. So I asked a business friend to give me a time sheet of how he budgeted a typical eight-hour day at the office.

"If you want an honest one, you'll have to keep it anonymous," he said. I agreed to this. Two weeks later he handed me the time sheet. It went like this:

"Time spent gulping late breakfast at desk: 15 minutes.

"Time spent on '10-minute coffee breaks,' morning and afternoon: one hour.

"Time spent listening to boss brag about golf score during daily staff conference: half-hour.

"Time spent washing hands and admiring mustache in office washroom mirror: 45 minutes.

"Time spent paring fingernails at desk: 15 minutes.

"Time spent listening to office friends explain their ailments, romantic conquests, and why they should get more money: 1½ hours.

"Time spent telling them about my troubles: 2½ hours.

"Time spent going to and from broken office water cooler and trying to find someone in authority who can get it to function properly: 45 minutes.

"Time spent discussing the mystery of life with pretty secretaries: one hour.

"Time spent shooting rubber bands at homely stenographer and sailing paper airplanes out window: half hour.

"Time spent dozing at desk after two-martini lunch: one hour.

"Time spent wondering why didn't do day before yesterday some things now plan to put off until tomorrow: half-hour.

"Time spent listening to wife over office phone forbidden to be used for personal calls: 45 minutes.

"Time spent getting shoeshine and talking about 1969 baseball prospects with office bootblack: half-hour.

"Time spent looking at travel folders of possible places to go for vacation next summer: half-hour.

"Time spent going out to stockroom to get new box of pencils: 15 minutes.

"Time spent trying to find someone in authority who can explain why broken office pencil sharpener hasn't been fixed: half-hour.

"Time spent figuring how much pension would receive if retired 10 years early: half-hour.

"Time spent making preliminary estimate of personal income taxes and also trying figure out why bank account doesn't balance: 45 minutes.

"Time spent daydreaming at desk: 4 hours, 15 minutes.

"Time spent actually working on the firm's business: one hour.

"Time spent tidying up desk and watching clock before leaving for day: half-hour."

When I added up these figures, I was surprised to find that instead of eight hours they totaled 19. When I pointed this out to my friend, he was surprised, too, but insisted the figures were accurate. He was also somewhat indignant.

"That boss of mine must be trying to turn our office into a sat mine," he said. "Imagine him getting 19 hours of performance for only eight hours' pay. I'm going to hit him up for a merit raise."

THAT BEGUILING young movie star Bobby Morse, now winning fresh laurels in TV's "That's Life," recalls dropping in at the Astor Theatre to see himself on the screen for the first time.

"I was terribly nervous, and chewing popcorn like mad," says Bobby. "Then suddenly, there I was! 'THAT'S ME,' I cried, poking the truck driver who was sitting next to me. He gave me a startled look, agreed, 'It sure is, Bud'—then, very gently, moved three seats away."

Rounded up by Louis A. Safian: the careful chef who put all his eggs in one biscuit . . . a shy young suitor who thought he was a tiny pebble on the beach, so his sweetheart urged him to be a little boulder . . . The Arab husband, very late in returning home, who assured his wife he had been sitting up with a sheik friend . . . and the embarrassed chess player who was caught with his pawns down.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

We live on a farm and use a great deal of insecticide in much of our work. These compounds are very important to us but we are fearful that they may do good for the farm but harm to our health. Can we protect ourselves in any way?

Dear Mr. C. O.: Modern insecticides now number in the thousands and are used extensively not only on the farm but in the city. Undoubtedly the use of these substances is greater in your area but then there may be less concentration of them in the air because you are in the open spaces.

It is well known that when people use powerful or even dangerous chemicals for a long period of time they become careless and less aware of the hazards of their use. Usage can cause serious illness when routine protection is overlooked. The advantages of modern chemicals are great but disadvantages of health hazards need not accompany their use.

Federal agencies carefully inspect each new product and make it legally necessary that complete directions for the use of chemical insecticides be printed with all the necessary warnings and how to suspect poisoning.

All who use any kind of chemical compound in the home, on the farm and in the city must protect themselves and stop their use if there is the slightest warning of any toxic reaction to them.

Read all the instructions and directions on the label carefully and know what the antidote is for each chemical that is being used. Avoid spraying these chemicals on the skin or impregnating clothing with them. Avoid the contamination of food and cooking utensils. Be sure that there is proper ventilation when compounds are sprayed indoors.

I believe it is wise for everyone, anywhere to consult with the manufacturer, not the enthusiastic salesman, before using a new insecticide to learn the possibilities of danger. City dwellers should be aware that the fruits and vegetables they purchase from farmers like you may have been covered with pesticides that remain on these edibles long after they are brought to the city. Despite all campaigns by public health bureaus, the carelessness of the user is still the greatest threat to his own health.

My husband is a truck driver and takes "bennies" to stay awake on his trips. Is it harmful for him to take as many as five or six a day?

Dear Mrs. K.: Let me explain to my readers that "bennie" is the slang term for amphetamines, a complex drug which stimulates the nervous system. A great many young people are hooked on bennies because it gives them a sense of well being that is artificial and may, in fact, take them out of the world of reality.

I most certainly do believe that bennies are exceedingly harmful to anyone when taken in such large quantities and without the approval of a doctor. The real danger is to your husband and to the other people on the road who do not know that their whole family destiny is being threatened by a drug user whose reflexes are slowed down.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — In communities all over America these days the construction of functional looking structures that faintly resemble motels attests to the change and development of the nursing home industry.

Not long ago a nursing home might have occupied an old mansion. Most likely it was operated by a private party. And though standards sometimes were good, the image of the entire industry was tarnished by the many that were poor.

Today the industry is one of the glamor attractions on Wall Street, with some companies commanding price-earnings multiples of 100, meaning that investors are willing to pay 100 times earnings for a share of the action.

For a comparison, consider the P-E of Goodyear, which is 15, or American Cyanamid, near 18, or DuPont, which is 21. A P-E of 100 for a nursing home may seem absurdly high but hundreds of investors don't seem to think so.

So great is the investor interest, and so meager the number of analytical summaries, that one Wall Street researcher now offers for $300 a copy of a study of this industry, which just 10 years ago was thought to be an unchanging area of enterprise.

The report, by Equity Research Associates, sums up the change in this way: The motel chains drove out the operators of roadside cabins. The grocery chains captured the retail food industry from the independents. Now the public corporation, owning multiple facilities, will take over the nursing home industry.

The corporations and their investors aren't fomenting a change by themselves. In fact, it would be more accurate to say they are simply capitalizing on these factors:

—Society is changing, and many urban families do not have the facilities to care for elderly parents. In a more rural society it was not unusual for three generations to live securely in the same house.

—Life spans are increasing, and so, therefore, are the number of elderly. There were 16.5 million Americans over 65 in 1960. The Census Bureau estimates there will be 26 million by 1980.

—The rising costs of medical care are making it more difficult for hospitals to accommodate the chronically ill or the long-term convalescents. Some nursing homes can turn profits at room charges of $18 a day. Hospital rooms are at least twice that.

—The sources of funds which to pay medical bills have grown in the past few years: Social Security, medicare, Medicaid, insurance policies, pensions, annuities and private savings.

In fiscal 1967 close to $50 billion was expended for health and medical care in the United States, an increase of 12 percent in one year. Health is a huge and growing business.

It is potential profits rather than altruism that motivates the operators of chains, the franchisers and other entrepreneurs. Motel owners often have to worry about vacancies. Well-run nursing homes have waiting lists.

DEEPDIVE—Aquanauts receive instructions as they enter a deck compression process to prepare them for 610-foot descent to the Navy's Sealab III laboratory-habitat in the Pacific Ocean a few miles off Long Beach, Calif. From left are George B. Dowling, civilian research physicist; Capt. Walter F. Mazzone, officer in charge of compression; Jay W. Myers, Cmdr. James Vorosmarti, Eng. 1/C Richard C. Bird, and Richard A. Cooper, oceanographer.

Common Market For Poor

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Dr. Thomas Matthew, the New York Negro neurosurgeon who is the nation's foremost advocate of black power self-help, probably stands closer to President Nixon's pre-inauguration thinking on ghetto problems than any other contemporary Negro leader. But he can't seem to get on the same wave length as Nixon's White House Urban Affairs adviser, Daniel Moynihan. Dr. Matthew tries to approach the problem of enhancing the Negro's personal pride and dignity by stressing the productive side of life. Moynihan, on the other hand, talks of "family allowances," which exalts what economists call the consumption function. So there is a stand-off — and Dr. Matthew, who has started Negro businesses in New York and California that employ 300 people, can't seem to get through to the President.

Balked at having a direct say at high levels on the future of black capitalism, Dr. Matthew has taken to the Urban League dinner circuit to publicize his ideas. Speaking at a meeting of the Inland Area Urban League in San Bernardino, California, the New York doctor expressed his fear that the same "fashioners of failure who took Johnson's lofty aims for a great society and turned them into a boondoggle for the white and black middle class are today advising President Nixon and his Urban Affairs Council." The "Fashioners of failure," according to Dr. Matthew, "haven't changed their opinions — they have merely changed a few words." He sees them taking the "tax credit" route to finance new boondoggles that won't really help black capitalists create new businesses of their own.

The "massive federal program," so Dr. Matthew told his California Urban League audience, misses fire because it doesn't deal with people as individuals, "one at a time." In a free environment, as distinguished from a socialist society, an economic system does not grow from the top down.

Capitalism, whether black or otherwise, is what results from a thousand separate trickles pooling to create a market.

Dr. Matthew has had success with his own organization called NEGRO (National Economic Growth and Reconstruction Organization) because he began small, starting with a hospital and branching out via a holding company technique to establish chemical plants and a clothing factory to make his hospital supplies. Then came a construction company to rehabilitate old

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — In communities all over America these days the construction of functional looking structures that faintly resemble motels attests to the change and development of the nursing home industry.

Not long ago a nursing home might have occupied an old mansion. Most likely it was operated by a private party. And though standards sometimes were good, the image of the entire industry was tarnished by the many that were poor.

Today the industry is one of the glamor attractions on Wall Street, with some companies commanding price-earnings multiples of 100, meaning that investors are willing to pay 100 times earnings for a share of the action.

For a comparison, consider the P-E of Goodyear, which is 15, or American Cyanamid, near 18, or duPont, which is 21. A P-E of 100 for a nursing home may seem absurdly high but hundreds of investors don't seem to think so.

So great is the investor interest, and so meager the number of analytical summaries, that one Wall Street researcher now offers for $300 a copy a study of this industry, which just 10 years ago was thought to be an unchanging area of enterprise.

The report, by Equity Research Associates, sums up the change in this way: The motel chains drove out the operators of roadside cabins. The grocery chains captured the retail food industry from the independents. Now the public corporation, owning multiple facilities, will take over the nursing home industry.

The corporations and their investors aren't fomenting the change by themselves. In fact, it would be more accurate to say they are simply capitalizing on these factors:

—Society is changing, and many urban families do not have the facilities to care for elderly parents. In a more rural society it was not unusual for three generations to live securely in the same house.

—Life spans are increasing, and so, therefore, are the number of elderly. There were 16.5 million Americans over 65 in 1960. The Census Bureau estimates there will be 28 million by 1980.

—The rising costs of medical care are making it more difficult for hospitals to accommodate the chronically ill or the long-term convalescents. Some nursing homes can turn profits at room charges of $18 a day. Hospital rooms are at least twice that.

—The sources of funds with which to pay medical bills have grown in the past few years: Social Security, medicare, medical insurance policies, pensions, annuities and private savings.

In fiscal 1967 close to $50 billion was expended for health and medical care in the United States, an increase of 12 percent in one year. Health is a huge and growing business.

It is potential profits rather than altruism that motivates the operators of chains, the franchisers and other entrepreneurs. Motel owners often have to worry about vacancies. Well-run nursing homes have waiting lists.

Dear Editor:
Since moving from the Circleville community last fall, I have kept abreast of local happenings to some degree through your paper. Although I have moved around the country in past years, my family spent eight satisfying years in Circleville. As you might imagine, pulling up roots is not always easy — especially from a location you have considered a good home. There are many times that I still find myself feeling a part of your community activities.

I was sent a copy of the picture and article covering the Armory leasing by the Y.M.C.A. Board. What a tremendous step for the Pickaway County community. As you know, the expansion of programs through this facility is already under way and it is another big step in fulfilling a need. This is one of those times when I feel very much a part of your community. To have been involved in the early work to get a family "Y" established and seeing it grow is very satisfying. However, as Bob Johnson and I talked before I left, the real work was yet to come. The people on the local board have jumped the next hurdle by acquiring the use of the Armory. Certainly the next step is the continued efforts of the people in Circleville and Pickaway County to provide the growth.

No one is so naive as to believe the family "Y" will provide for everyone's wishes — no single organization does. It will, however, provide a much needed program for school age young people and for any other age group that wants a more complete and fulfilling life.

Hats off to Bob Johnson, Harold Hewett, and all the other board members who have worked so hard to provide a home for your Y.M.C.A. Many times we don't take the time to express our thanks to those people who have helped so much and certainly the Circleville Herald has helped to make this program a reality.

Common Market For Poor

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Dr. Thomas Matthew, the New York Negro neurosurgeon who is the nation's foremost advocate of black power self-help, probably stands closer to President Nixon's pre-Inauguration thinking on ghetto problems than any other contemporary Negro leader. But he can't seem to get on the same wave length as Nixon's White House Urban Affairs adviser, Daniel Moynihan. Dr. Matthew tries to approach the problem of enhancing the Negro's personal pride and dignity by stressing the productive side of life.

Moynihan, on the other hand, talks of "family allowances," which exalts what economists call the consumption function. So there is a stand-off — and Dr. Matthew, who has started Negro businesses in New York and California that employ 300 people, can't seem to get through to the President.

Balked at having a direct say at high levels on the future of black capitalism, Dr. Matthew has taken to the Urban League dinner circuit to publicize his ideas. Speaking at a meeting of the Inland Area Urban League in San Bernardino, California, the New York doctor expressed his fear that the same "fashioners of failure" who took Johnson's lofty aims for a great society and turned them into a boondoggle for the white and black middle class are today advising President Nixon and his Urban Affairs Council.

The "Fashioners of failure," according to Dr. Matthew, "haven't changed their opinions — they have merely changed a few words." He sees them taking the "tax credit" route to finance new boondoggles that won't really help black capitalists create new businesses of their own.

The "massive federal program," so Dr. Matthew told his California Urban League audience, misses fire because it doesn't deal with people as individuals, "one at a time." In a free environment, as distinguished from a socialist society, an economic system does not grow from the top down.

Capitalism, whether black or otherwise, is what results from a thousand separate trickles pooling to create a market.

Dr. Matthew has had success with his own organization called NEGRO (National Economic Growth and Reconstruction Organization) because he began small, starting with a hospital and branching out via a holding company technique to establish chemical plants and a clothing factory to make his hospital supplies. Then came a construction company to rehabilitate old apartment houses for rent to families whose breadwinners could go to work in the hospital. Finally, Dr. Matthew started a bus line in the Watts district of Los Angeles after failing to get a franchise for his busses in New York.

Generalizing from his own experience, Dr. Matthew would like to sell the idea of a Little Common Market for the Poor to "Pat" Moynihan and other Nixon urbanologists. There would be an alliance of four groups below the poverty line — the blacks, the American Indians, the Hispanic Americans, and the residual white poor.

"By duplicating the pattern of NEGRO," says Dr. Matthew, "and by entering into marketing and purchasing agreements, the four distinct elements of American poor will build together a little economy. We shall be a domestic Japan for the major economy until we grow to be a part of the mainstream."

Government could help the Little Common Market by making or guaranteeing loans, but there would be no need for the billions that only breed corruption. And Congress might authorize Federal grants of contracts, up to two percent of all contracts with private industry, to the Little Common Market on a low bid basis.

The minimum wage law might stand in the way of creating a "little Japan" inside America, and the union movement might resent the growth of a Negro construction industry. But Dr. Matthew is eternally right in his insistence that black capitalism, if it is to become a reality, must grow from the bottom up. That is the only way capitalism has ever grown.

Surely there is a market for the sort of expansion that Dr. Matthew envisages. The Negro market for goods and services in this country is a thirty billion dollar market. Why shouldn't black capitalists share much of that among themselves?

Variety Club

It was hearts and Cupid's darts when members of the Deer Creek Variety (Home Demonstration) entertained their husbands with dinner and a program last Friday evening at Wardell's Party Home.

The program under the capable direction of Mrs. Paul (Joan) Dawson (also the club president) was a skillful blending of the serious and the humorous. First of all each member introduced her husband and then Mrs. Clyde Herron read the poem "To My Valentine" to her husband and all others present. Next followed a pantomime "Courtship Days" which almost defies description — participants were Paul and Louise Drummond, this writer and since papa Bill was on the 4-12 p.m. shift at Du Pont, his role was played by Margene (Mrs. Harvey) Looney (as one wit in the crowd commented "He never looked better"). During the pantomime Marabel (Mrs. David) Drummond softly played "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" on the piano with the entire group singing the song at the end of the "act." Following this was Janie (Mrs. Gene) Grigsby giving the well-known and loved, "How Do I Love Thee;" a humorous reading — Joan Dawson; a very interesting paper on Abe Lincoln by Eleanor (Mrs. John) Wardell; a piano solo "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," Louise Drummond and as she commented — after the pantomime maybe it should be called "splintered." Dorothy (Mrs. Lawrence) Carle gave a reading on some of the trials and tribulations in the life of George Washington and how he overcame them (Dorothy's hubby was unable to attend being ill with the flu) Mrs. Dawson noted a number of famous February birthdays and had those present with Feb. birthdays to stand.

No get together of husbands and wives is complete anymore unless a take off of the Newlywed game is played and at this gathering those "put on the spot" were "Variety Weds." Otha and Ernestine Lewis, the David Drummonds, Winfred and Fannie Bidwell, Don and Marge Wolford who were the winners and Don also won the door prize. At the conclusion each person turned to the opposite — shook hands and wished the other good night. Others attending besides those already mentioned were Pete and Pearl Cochenour, Bob and Diane Peck, Clyde and Frances Bidwell, Mary Clark and her brother Frank Clark, Paul Dawson, John Wardell, Bill and Pearl Trapp and Gene Grigsby.

Alumni
Every five years the wheels are put in motion preparing for the Williamsport Alumni banquet and 1969 is the year and President John Steinhauser is right on the ball — fellow officers met at his home recently and tentatively they are aiming for a middle of May date and have one real live wire money making idea being considered — more about this as plans jell — one big hint — why has John been taking pics of Williamsport school? On the official team besides Pres. John are Verna Lawson Mowery 1st V.P., Bruce Willis, 2nd vice president; Wanda Newton Hooks, sec'y; Norma Anderson, treas. (why is it an employee of a bank always gets the treasurer's job?) Sitting in on the meeting with lots of helpful ideas were Evelyn Wright Hastings (former sec'y) and Carl Hooks (spouse of Wanda).

Send a Card
Mrs. Esther Bartholomew entered Berger Hospital, Saturday and underwent surgery Monday afternoon for removal of the pin which was inserted last August when she fell at a local laundromat and suffered a broken hip. She is a daughter of long-time residents Ben and Annie Morris Compton and is also a retired employee of Orient State Hospital.

Our Wee Ones
We really have a tiny one to welcome this week — 3 pounds 13 ounces Elizabeth Christine Cook was born at 3:20 a.m. Saturday in Mt. Carmel Hospital to proud parents Don and Peggy Helser Cook. Mother and daughter are doing very well we are happy to report and father Don is holding his own. Little Beth (as I am told she will be called) is the second grandchild for Don and Jean Cook — their other is Lisa Cook born just a few months ago to Dick and Sue Cook. Beth's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Helser of Lima.

A son, Douglas Aaron, arrived at 5:15 a.m. Saturday in Doctors Hospital North to Charles and Eldeen Stonerock and the phrase "bouncing baby boy" certainly comes to mind since he weighed 9 pounds 14 ounces.

Another birth of importance to our area is that of Andrew

Aaron Harper who made his appearance Feb. 11, 5:15 p.m., Mt. Carmel Hospital — weight 7 pounds 4 ounces — parents Aaron and Anita Clendenin. Aaron spent a number of his boyhood years in Williamsport when his parents the Gay Harpers and their other two sons Alan and Adrian were residents. Good friends Gary and Sandy Wisecup visited mother and son at the hospital last Thursday.

Speaking of the Wisecups, Sandy called to say son Brian was feted on his fifth birthday with a party at the home of paternal grandparents, the Orin Wisecups of New Holland. Brian's birthday was Feb. 8 and grandma Wisecup celebrated hers Feb. 7. Thoroughly enjoying the evening were maternal grandparents Jack and Pat Clark (Jack only ate five dishes of the homemade ice cream), Auntie Dee Ann Clark; Uncle Darrel, Aunt Glenna and cousin Drew Wisecup; great-grandmamas, Hazel Clark and Mrs. C. C. Allen (great-grandpa C. C. is not at all well and was unable to go) sister Tracey, daddy Gary and of course mama Sandy Wisecup. Aunt Linda Wisecup, a senior in education at Ohio University sent a gift and best wishes.

O.U. Returnees
Two of our pretty local girls — Diane Cook and Sandy Long have returned home from Ohio U. this quarter and are attending the branch campus at Chillicothe. Diane, the only daughter of Don and Jean is a major in elementary education and Sandy, the only daughter of Mrs. Ray Russell is majoring in secondary education.

Other news on the OU campus is from Lynn Straley, a sophomore there who will go active Saturday in Kappa Phi. Lynn's mother Edith and sisters Dona and Ann will attend the ceremony Saturday at the First Methodist Church in Athens. Father Warren (Deputy Sheriff) will not get to attend.

In Athens last Saturday were John and Minnie Steinhauser to attend the wedding of Miss Myriam Antorietto and David Joseph Boyd. Daughter Jill was a bridesmaid for former roommate Myriam and she (Jill) remained over to visit former O.U. classmates before returning to her Columbus apartment, Sunday.

Another Steinhauser daughter, Jonda, has been accepted by Otterbein which happily was her first choice. Jonda will be maid of honor this Sunday, Feb. 23 when her very good friend, Pat Kneese becomes the bride of Jim Parrett.

Happy Birthday
Jill Steinhauser, Feb. 19; Pamela Pitt and Jim Howell, Feb. 20; Janelle Thompson, Feb. 21; Matthew Gibson, Sylvia Johnson and Linda Fausnaugh all share honors with truthful George Washington Feb. 22; Winfred Bidwell and Elaine Steinhauser, Feb. 23; Judy Minor Irwin, Feb. 25; Cecilia Hertenstein Feb. 26.

Work Wanted!
The annual Senior MYF work day will be March 1 and should you (hopefully) have a job for these young people to do please contact president Jonda Steinhauser (986-3872). Don't delay — get your name on the list before all the time is taken — there is not a set price, they will accept whatever you wish to pay but naturally they hope to receive fair wages for their treasury.

Style Show
Mrs. Steve (Anda) Fullan has announced her committees for the Child Study League style show "Sewing into Spring" to be held March 4, 8 p.m. in Westfall High School. Tickets: Norma Wright, Kate Schleich; Music: Mary Alice Schein, Mildred Skinner; Models: Sandy Wisecup, Ruth Long, Pat Clark, Onda Fullan; Decorating: Helen Whitesed, Loretta Keller, Betty Shipley, Jean Metzger; Door Prizes: Minnie Steinhauser, Grace Ann Hulse; Publicity: Rose Evelyn McDill, Nellie Wright; Refreshments: Norma Keller, Rita Long, Rosemary Hunsicker, Margaret Morrison and Annabelle Rhinesmith (she and husband Bill celebrate a wedding anniversary Feb. 20).

Sorosis
The February meeting with Beverly (Mrs. Glen) Whitten hostess was held Monday evening in the United Methodist Church annex with one of the largest number of persons present in a long, long time. The usual order of business was conducted with reports given by Mrs. Verna (Jim) Mowery, treasurer; Mrs. Helen (Paul) Whitesed, sec'y pro-tem due to the absence of our own Esta Tipton (who is slowly recuperating from being seriously ill). Mrs. Harvey Looney, president, thanked her committee members of this past year. A $5 contribution was made to the Heart Fund. The Sorosis year begins in March and in past years the outgoing president has handed over the gavel to the incoming president at the Feb. meeting. Yours truly served as chairman on the nominating committee and so dreamed up the idea of a more formal installation with the assistance of Mrs. David (Nancy) Snyder. As program chairman for this new year and Mrs. Snyder as a committee member the two of us were privileged to serve as installing officers. As each officer was installed a candle was lit; her duties defined; and an appropriate flower in a milk glass bud vase was presented. New officers are: Mrs. Harvey Looney, president; Mrs. Glen Whitten, 1st vice pres.; Mrs. Dallas Valentine, 2nd v.p.; Mrs. Gertrude Schleich, 3rd V.P.; Mrs. Esta Tipton, sec'y (Helen Whitesed pro tem) Mrs. Margaret Sampson, treas.

Mrs. George (Janie) Hamman was program leader and presented without doubt one of our outstanding programs since guest speaker was the delightful, witty, widely traveled, Mrs. Kendall (Miriam Smith) Bryan who has been associated with Girl Scouting over 40 years first as a volunteer and right on up the ladder to her present position as a consultant on the National staff. Having grown-up in Williamsport and also teaching here (some of her former pupils were in the audience) she reminisced a bit about those golden days and skillfully wove those times and her later travels and experiences into one of the most spell binding talks — the listener rode the early train with her to the western towns and her new job in that territory. They shared her confidence on another assignment and her confidential remarks about still another.

The heart felt the great sorrow of the visit to husband Kendall's final resting place in Mania but the burden lifted when realization of the beauty of the place was revealed and the peace and serenity of knowing. So many places, people, their customs — all fascinating — the articles displayed — so interesting it makes this writer wish just everyone could have had the privilege. Also adding to the success of the program were several musical numbers presented by Mrs. Ray (Jean) Vaione, Mrs. Whitten, Mrs. Clark Hunsicker with Mrs. Jim Mowery accompanist. To add to the enjoyment of the evening absolutely delicious refreshments were served by that committee with Mrs. George McGehee, chairman; Mrs. Warren Wright, Mrs. Alice Schleich, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, Mrs. Ruth Snyder, Mrs. Edna Newhouse.

Heart Fund
As promised the list of our young people who will be out in full force this coming Sunday, Feb. 23, to collect your heart fund donation is ready to be released. I am very proud of these teen-agers who have consented to give up their time and efforts for this worthwhile cause and these concerned young folks will be the concerned leaders of tomorrow — it is so easy to say no and turn your back but these teenagers had the courage to say — Yes! I will help my fellow man. Now, all of you show them your concern by giving generously and making this the most successful drive our area has ever had.

Senior Citizen
Our gal this week has plenty of that stuff called spunk and downright old fashioned "don't throw in the towel" as long as there's a spark left. Some folks call her Ollie, most call her Granny, several call her mom and a rare one now and then calls her Mrs. Shaw but far and wide Olive Stauffer Shaw is known as a good neighbor, loyal friend, devoted mother and grandmother and a fine lady. Born July 17, 1890 she has led a very busy life — first as a playmate to 4 brothers and 5 sisters of whom two brothers, Howard and Egar of the Chillicothe area survive and two sisters, Mrs. D. W. Hansford of Maiden, North Carolina and our own Mrs. William (Marie) Kadel of Mom and Pop's grocery on Route 22 west. At the age of 22 (cupid shot his arrow into the air) she became the bride of Lloyd Shaw on September 10, 1912 and over the years became the mother of 12

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

A Real Woman Will Find The Man

DEAR ABBY: I am 53 and have been a widow for three years. I keep my hand in business to keep occupied, but I have no money worries.

I dress fashionably, am well groomed, I wear glasses and my figure is "so-so." I'm no beauty, and I look my age.

I would like to get married again, but I don't like old men, and young men don't like me. Don't tell me to travel. I've traveled plenty and all I meet is other women looking for men. Don't tell me to develop my personality. I have more "personality" than most men I know. Don't suggest contact lenses. I've tried them and can't wear them. And don't tell me to tint my hair. I already do. What can you do for me?

LOOKING

DEAR LOOKING: Nothing. No man wants a woman who anticipates all the questions and knows all the answers. If you really want a man, you'll have to come across more like a woman.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are expecting our first baby in about a month. We've arranged to have a woman come in (afternoons) to help with the cooking and cleaning the first two weeks.

The problem is my mother has informed us that she is coming as soon as the baby is born so she can "help" me. Abby, I wrote her some time ago, telling her that I wanted her to wait until the baby is a month old, but she apparently ignored my suggestion.

My mother is extremely critical and I am her favorite target. She makes me nervous. The last time she visited us, my husband threatened to send her packing if she didn't lay off me.

How can I tell my mother to please stay home that first month without causing a major rift?

UPSET MOTHER—TO-BE DEAR UPSET: Tell your mother again, just as you have told me, that you will welcome her when the baby is one month old but not before. If it causes a major rift, be prepared to accept it. Otherwise prepare to be criticized. AND UPSET.

DEAR ABBY: This is in reference to the letter from "FRICTIONED," the 27-year-old woman whose 65-year-old father-in-law wanted a kiss on the lips. Abby, I think you were very rough on the old man.

I too, am an old man and a widower, and I don't think many young folks realize how desperately lonely and hungry for a little affection an old man can be at times. Not for SEX—just a touch of the hand.

BETHESDA DEAR BETHESDA: I'm all for showing affection and plenty of it, but when a man tries to FORCE his daughter-in-law to kiss him on the lips (as was plainly stated in the letter) I draw the line. If it's good clean fun, Dad, a hug or a kiss on the cheek will convey the affectionate message.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED PARENTS IN PITTSBURGH: No. We don't need a "new" code of morals. What we need is the courage and wisdom to live up to the old ones.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For years the Shaw's farmed a round Yellowbud before moving to a farm on the Williamsport Pike in 1946 where they remained until the death of Mr. Shaw on April 25, 1960. A move was then made to a smaller farm near Kinderhook and Granny went into the restaurant business on Route 22 West and it was appropriately called "Granny's." A bad fall put her in the hospital for a lengthy stay, then back to the business in a wheel chair — however after quite a long time keeping up her work in this manner it just became too much and regrettably she closed the doors. She keeps busy with her home and her hobbies of tating, embroidery, and crocheting. Hats off, to dear Granny Shaw — we salute you!

Seek Tough Annexation Requirements

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton legislator planned to introduce in the Ohio House today a bill that would make it tougher for small communities to annex land next to a larger city.

Democratic Rep. C. J. McLin Jr. said the measure would make it mandatory for a small town annexing an area within three miles of a city of 50,000 population or more to first get the approval of the major city.

The proposed legislation also would:

- Allow a property owner to petition for annexation of his property. Under existing law the land must be completely surrounded by a municipality before he can do so.
- Require that a community annexing area prove it is financially able to provide urban services to the area it is taking in.
- Require that fulltime employees of a township be given top consideration for jobs with the annexing municipality.
- Permit a new election within two years if annexation fails on the ballot. Under present law it is five years before it can be brought up again.

Kennedy Tells Why He Didn't Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says his age, political experience and family name were factors in his decision not to seek the Democratic presidential nomination last August.

The Massachusetts senator, who will be 37 years old this Saturday, was quoted in the current issue of Look magazine as saying he was under considerable pressure to try for the nomination, adding: "Basically, I just didn't have the feeling at that time for politics and campaigning and, beyond that, I was too vulnerable."

The Maine Democrat's 50-minute speech was interrupted several times by thunderous applause. He was key speaker at the school's 160th anniversary celebration.

"Many of you feel—and with good reason—that the present system and its procedures are unfair and have little relevance to our goals and motivations," Muskie said.

But the senator questioned whether the all-volunteer army being advocated by several of his colleagues was the answer. The volunteer plan is key to providing sufficient pay and other incentives to attract enough manpower.

"Should not military service in a democratic society be a responsibility unrelated to economic status," he asked.

"Black Americans reenlist in the army at a higher percentage than whites because there is less opportunity for them if they return to civilian life."

"Could not the billions of dollars which we would spend to operate a professional army be better spent equalizing the opportunities of civilian life?"

Muskie, the vice presidential candidate in the last election, recommended these changes in present draft laws:

- Regional selective service boards operating under uniform standards, in place of the 4,000 local boards.
- Selection based on a lottery covering all eligible at the age of 19.
- Affording the draftee various choices of service, "military and otherwise, which have been determined to be relevant to the needs of the nation."

Rocky Slates Trip To South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who helped develop Franklin D. Roosevelt's Good Neighbor Policy more than 30 years ago, is going south-of-the-border in April to seek improved U.S.-Latin American relations on behalf of President Nixon.

Nixon's confirmation Monday that the New York governor will be his special emissary came as U.S. relations with one of the south-of-the-border nations—Peru—was near the crisis stage.

Rockefeller was coordinator of Inter-American Affairs under President Roosevelt and helped frame the Good Neighbor program.

Variety Club

It was hearts and Cupid's darts when members of the Deer Creek Variety (Home Demonstration) entertained their husbands with dinner and a program last Friday evening at Wardell's Party Home.

The program under the capable direction of Mrs. Paul (Joan) Dawson (also the club president) was a skillful blending of the serious and the humorous. First of all each member introduced her husband and then Mrs. Clyde Herron read the poem "To My Valentine" to her husband and all others present. Next followed a pantomime "Courtship Days" which almost defies description — participants were Paul and Louise Drummond, this writer and since papa Bill was on the 4-12 p.m. shift at Du Pont, his role was played by Margene (Mrs. Harvey) Looney (as one wit in the crowd commented "He never looked better"). During the pantomime Marabel (Mrs. David) Drummond softly played "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" on the piano with the entire group singing the song at the end of the "act." Following this was Janie (Mrs. Gene) Grigsby giving the well-known and loved, "How Do I Love Thee?" a humorous reading — Joan Dawson; a very interesting paper on Abe Lincoln by Eleanor (Mrs. John) Wardell; a piano solo "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," Louise Drummond and as she commented — after the pantomime maybe it should be called "splintered." Dorothy (Mrs. Lawrence) Carle gave a reading on some of the trials and tribulations in the life of George Washington and how he overcame them (Dorothy's hubby was unable to attend being ill with the flu) Mrs. Dawson noted a number of famous February birthdays and had those present with Feb. birthdays to stand.

No get together of husbands and wives is complete anymore unless a take off of the Newlywed game is played and at this gathering those "put on the spot" were "Variety Wags," Otha and Ernestine Lewis, the David Drummonds, Winfred and Fannie Bidwell, Don and Marge Wolford who were the winners and Don also won the door prize. At the conclusion each person turned to the opposite — shook hands and wished the other good night. Others attending besides those already mentioned were Pete and Pearl Cochenour, Bob and Diane Beck, Clyde and Frances Bidwell, Mary Clark and her brother Frank Clark, Paul Dawson, John Wardell, Bill and Pearl Trapp and Gene Grigsby.

Every five years the wheels are put in motion preparing for the Williamsport Alumni banquet and 1969 is the year and President John Steinhauer is right on the ball — fellow officers met at his home recently and tentatively they are aiming for a middle of May date and have one real live wire money making idea being considered — more about this as plans fall — one big hint — why has John been taking pics of Williamsport school? On the official team besides Pres. John are Verna Lawson Mowery 1st V.P., Bruce Willis, 2nd vice president; Wanda Newton Hooks, sec'y; Norma Anderson, treas. (why is it an employee of a bank always gets the treasurer's job?) Sitting in on the meeting with lots of helpful ideas were Evelyn Wright Hastings (former sec'y) and Carl Hooks (spouse of Wanda).

Mrs. Esther Bartholomew entered Berger Hospital, Saturday and underwent surgery Monday afternoon for removal of the pin which was inserted last August when she fell at a local laundromat and suffered a broken hip. She is a daughter of long-time residents Ben and Annie Morris Compton and is also a retired employee of Orient State Hospital.

Our Wee Ones
We really have a tiny one to welcome this week — 3 pounds 13 ounces Elizabeth Christine Cook was born at 3:20 a.m. Saturday in Mt. Carmel Hospital to proud parents Don and Peggy Helsor Cook. Mother and daughter are doing very well we are happy to report and father Don is holding his own. Little Beth (as I am told she will be called) is the second grandchild for Don and Jean Cook — their other is Lisa Cook born just a few months ago to Dick and Sue Cook. Beth's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Helsor of Lima.

A son, Douglas Aaron, arrived at 5:15 a.m. Saturday in Doctors Hospital North to Charles and Eldean Stonerock and the phrase "bouncing baby boy" certainly comes to mind since he weighed 9 pounds 14 ounces.

Another birth of importance to our area is that of Andrew

Aaron Harper who made his appearance Feb. 11, 5:15 p.m., Mt. Carmel Hospital — weight 7 pounds 4 ounces — parents Aaron and Anita Clendenin. Aaron spent a number of his boyhood years in Williamsport when his parents the Gay Harpers and their other two sons Alan and Adrian were residents. Good friends Gary and Sandy Wisecup visited mother and son at the hospital last Thursday.

Speaking of the Wisecup's, Sandy called to say son Brian was fete on his fifth birthday with a party at the home of paternal grandparents, the Orin Wisecup's of New Holland. Brian's birthday was Feb. 8 and grandma Wisecup celebrated hers Feb. 7. Thoroughly enjoying the evening were maternal grandparents Jack and Pat Clark (Jack only ate five dishes of the homemade ice cream), Auntie Dee Ann Clark; Uncle Darrel, Aunt Glenna and cousin Drew Wisecup; great-grandmas, Hazel Clark and Mrs. C. C. Allen (great-grandpa C. C. is not at all well and was unable to go) sister Tracey, daddy Gary and of course mama Sandy Wisecup. Aunt Linda Wisecup, a senior in education at Ohio University sent a gift and best wishes.

O.U. Returnees
Two of our pretty local girls — Diane Cook and Sandy Long have returned home from Ohio U. this quarter and are attending the branch campus at Chillicothe. Diane, the only daughter of Don and Jean is a major in elementary education and Sandy, the only daughter of Mrs. Ray Russell is majoring in secondary education.

Other news on the OU campus is from Lynn Straley, a sophomore there who will go active Saturday in Kappa Phi. Lynn's mother Edith and sisters Dona and Ann will attend the ceremony Saturday at the First Methodist Church in Athens. Father Warren (Deputy Sheriff) will not get to attend.

In Athens last Saturday were John and Minnie Steinhauer to attend the wedding of Miss Myriam Antorietto and David Joseph Boyd. Daughter Jill was a bridesmaid for former roommate Myriam and she (Jill) remained over to visit former O.U. classmates before returning to her Columbus apartment, Sunday.

Another Steinhauer daughter, Jonda, has been accepted by Otterbein which happily was her first choice. Jonda will be maid of honor this Sunday, Feb. 23 when her very good friend, Pat Kneec becomes the bride of Jim Parrett.

Happy Birthday
Jill Steinhauer, Feb. 19; Pamela Pitt and Jim Howell, Feb. 20; Janelle Thompson, Feb. 21; Matthew Gibson, Sylvia Johnson and Linda Fausnaugh all share honors with truthful George Washington Feb. 22; Winfred Bidwell and Elaine Steinhauer, Feb. 23; Judy Minor Irwin, Feb. 25; Cecilia Hertenstein Feb. 26.

Work Wanted!
The annual Senior MYF work day will be March 1 and should you (hopefully) have a job for these young people to do please contact president Jonda Steinhauer (986-3872). Don't delay — get your name on the list before all the time is taken — there is not a set price, they will accept whatever you wish to pay but naturally they hope to receive fair wages for their treasury.

Style Show
Mrs. Steve (Anda) Fullen has announced her committees for the Child Study League style show "Sewing into Spring" to be held March 4, 8 p.m. in Westfall High School. Tickets: Norma Wright, Kate Schleich; Music: Mary Alice Schein, Mildred Skinner; Models: Sandy Wisecup, Ruth Long, Pat Clark, Onda Fullen; Decorating: Helen Whitesed, Loretta Keller, Betty Shipley, Jean Metzger; Door Prizes: Minnie Steinhauer, Grace Ann Hulse; Publicity: Rose Evelyn McDill, Nellie Wright; Refreshments: Norma Keller, Rita Long, Rosemary Hunsicker, Margaret Morrison and Annabelle Rhinesmith (she and husband Bill celebrate a wedding anniversary Feb. 20).

Sorosis
The February meeting with Beverly (Mrs. Glen) Whitten hostess was held Monday evening in the United Methodist Church annex with one of the largest number of persons present in a long, long time. The usual order of business was conducted with reports given by Mrs. Verna (Jim) Mowery, treasurer; Mrs. Helen (Paul) Whitesed, sec'y pro-tem due to the absence of our own Esta Tipton (who is slowly recuperating from being seriously ill). Mrs. Harvey Looney, president, thanked her committee members of this past year. A $5 contribution was made to Hte Fund. The Sorosis year begins in March and in past years the outgoing president has handed over the gavel to the incoming president at the Feb. meeting. Yours truly served as chairman on the nominating committee and so dreamed up the idea of a more formal installation with the assistance of Mrs. David (Nancy) Snyder. As program chairman for this new year and Mrs. Snyder as a committee member the two of us were privileged to serve as installing officers. As each officer was installed a candle was lit; her duties defined; and an appropriate flower in a milk glass bud vase was presented. New officers are: Mrs. Harvey Looney, president; Mrs. Glen Whitten, 1st vice pres.; Mrs. Dallas Valentine, 2nd v.p.; Mrs. Gertrude Schleich, 3rd V.P.; Mrs. Esta Tipton, sec'y (Helen Whitesed pro tem'd) Mrs. Margaret Sampson, treas.

Mrs. George (Janie) Hamman was program leader and presented without doubt one of our outstanding programs since guest speaker was the delightful, witty, widely traveled, Mrs. Kendall (Miriam Smith) Bryan who has been associated with Girl Scouting over 40 years first as a volunteer and right on up the ladder to her present position as a consultant on the National staff. Having grown-up in Williamsport and also teaching here (some of her former pupils were in the audience) she reminisced a bit about those golden days and skillfully wove those times and her later travels and experiences into one of the most spell binding talks — the listener rode the early train with her to the western towns and her new job in that territory. They shared her confidence on another assignment and her confidential remarks about still another.

The heart felt the great sorrow of the visit to husband Kendall's final resting place in Mania but the burden lifted when realization of the beauty of the place was revealed and the peace and serenity of knowing. So many places, people, their customs — all fascinating — the articles displayed — so interesting it makes this writer wish just everyone could have had the privilege. Also adding to the success of the program were several musical numbers presented by Mrs. Ray (Jean) Valone, Mrs. Whitten, Mrs. Clark Hunsicker with Mrs. Jim Mowery accompanist. To add to the enjoyment of the evening absolutely delicious refreshments were served by that committee with Mrs. George McGhee, chairman; Mrs. Warren Wright, Mrs. Alice Schleich, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, Mrs. Ruth Snyder, Mrs. Edna Newhouse.

Heart Fund
As promised the list of our young people who will be out in full force this coming Sunday, Feb. 23, to collect your heart fund donation is ready to be released. I am very proud of these teen-agers who have consented to give up their time and efforts for this worthwhile cause and these concerned young folks will be the concerned leaders of tomorrow — it is so easy to say no and turn your back but these teenagers had the courage to say — Yes! I will help my fellow man. Now, all of you show them your concern by giving generously and making this the most successful drive our area has ever had.

Senior Citizen
Our gal this week has plenty of that stuff called spunk and downright old fashioned "don't throw in the towel" as long as there's a spark left. Some folks call her Ollie, most call her Granny, several call her mom and a rare one now and then calls her Mrs. Shaw but far and wide Olive Stauffer Shaw is known as a good neighbor, loyal friend, devoted mother and grandmother and a fine lady. Born July 17, 1890 she has led a very busy life — first as a playmate to 4 brothers and 5 sisters of whom two brothers, Howard and Edgar of the Chillicothe area survive and two sisters, Mrs. D. W. Hansford of Maiden, North Carolina and our own Mrs. William (Marie) Kadel of Mom and Pop's grocery on Route 22 west. At the age of 22 (cupid shot his arrow into the air) she became the bride of Lloyd Shaw on September 10, 1912 and over the years became the mother of 12 children, four of whom are deceased, four sons living, Clarence of Kingston; Harold, Chillicothe; Paul, Columbus; Lloyd, Jr., Orient; four daughters, Mrs. John (Lila) Mowery, Five Points; Mrs. Fred (Dorothy) Jackson, Kingston; Mrs. Robert (Mary) Osterle, Williamsport (who helped me greatly in obtaining the vital statistics) and Miss Katherine (Fay) Shaw at home. Twenty-three grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren are privileged to call her grandma. For years the Shaw's farmed around Yellowbud before moving to a farm on the Williamsport Pike in 1946 where they remained until the death of Mr. Shaw on April 25, 1960. A move was then made to a smaller farm near Kinderhook and Granny went into the restaurant business on Route 22 West and it was appropriately called "Granny's." A bad fall put her in the hospital for a lengthy stay, then back to the business in a wheel chair — however after quite a long time keeping up her work in this manner it just became too much and regrettably she closed the doors. She keeps busy with her home and her hobbies of tating, embroidery, and crocheting. Hats off, to dear Granny Shaw — we salute you!

LOOKING
DEAR LOOKING: Nothing. No man wants a woman who anticipates all the questions and knows all the answers. If you really want a man, you'll have to come across more like a woman.

DEAR ABBY: My husband

and I are expecting our first baby in about a month. We've arranged to have a woman come in (afternoons) to help with the cooking and cleaning the first two weeks.

The problem is my mother has informed us that she is coming as soon as the baby is born so she can "help" me. Abby, I wrote her some time ago, telling her that I wanted her to wait until the baby is a month old, but she apparently ignored my suggestion.

My mother is extremely critical and I am her favorite target. She makes me nervous. The last time she visited us, my husband threatened to send her packing if she didn't lay off me.

How can I tell my mother to please stay home that first month without causing a major rift?

UPSET MOTHER-TO-BE

DEAR UPSET: Tell your mother again, just as you have told me, that you will welcome her when the baby is one month old-but not before. If it causes a major rift, be prepared to accept it. Otherwise prepare to be criticized, AND upset.

DEAR ABBY: This is in reference to the letter from "FRICTIONED," the 27-year-old woman whose 65-year-old father-in-law wanted a kiss on the lips. Abby, I think you were very rough on the old man.

I too, am an old man and a widower, and I don't think many young folks realize how desperately lonely and hungry for a little affection an old man can be at times. Not for SEX—just a touch of the hand.

BETHESDA

DEAR BETHESDA: I'm all for showing affection and plenty of it, but when a man tries to FORCE his daughter-in-law to kiss him on the lips (as was plainly stated in the letter) I draw the line. If it's good clean fun, Dad, a hug or a kiss on the cheek will convey the affectionate message.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED PARENTS IN PITTSBURGH: No. We don't need a "new" code of morals. What we need is the courage and wisdom to live up to the old ones.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I dress fashionably, am well groomed, I wear glasses and my figure is "so-so." I'm no beauty, and I look my age.

I would like to get married again, but I don't like old men, and young men don't like me. Don't tell me to travel. I've traveled plenty and all I meet is other women looking for men. Don't tell me to develop my personality. I have more "personality" than most men I know. Don't suggest contact lenses. I've tried them and can't wear them. And don't tell me to tint my hair. I already do. What can you do for me?

I dress fashionably, am well groomed, I wear glasses and my figure is "so-so." I'm no beauty, and I look my age.

I would like to get married again, but I don't like old men, and young men don't like me. Don't tell me to travel. I've traveled plenty and all I meet is other women looking for men. Don't tell me to develop my personality. I have more "personality" than most men I know. Don't suggest contact lenses. I've tried them and can't wear them. And don't tell me to tint my hair. I already do. What can you do for me?

LOOKING

DEAR LOOKING: Nothing. No man wants a woman who anticipates all the questions and knows all the answers. If you really want a man, you'll have to come across more like a woman.

DEAR ABBY: My husband

and I are expecting our first baby in about a month. We've arranged to have a woman come in (afternoons) to help with the cooking and cleaning the first two weeks.

The problem is my mother has informed us that she is coming as soon as the baby is born so she can "help" me. Abby, I wrote her some time ago, telling her that I wanted her to wait until the baby is a month old, but she apparently ignored my suggestion.

My mother is extremely critical and I am her favorite target. She makes me nervous. The last time she visited us, my husband threatened to send her packing if she didn't lay off me.

How can I tell my mother to please stay home that first month without causing a major rift?

UPSET MOTHER-TO-BE

DEAR UPSET: Tell your mother again, just as you have told me, that you will welcome her when the baby is one month old-but not before. If it causes a major rift, be prepared to accept it. Otherwise prepare to be criticized, AND upset.

DEAR ABBY: This is in reference to the letter from "FRICTIONED," the 27-year-old woman whose 65-year-old father-in-law wanted a kiss on the lips. Abby, I think you were very rough on the old man.

I too, am an old man and a widower, and I don't think many young folks realize how desperately lonely and hungry for a little affection an old man can be at times. Not for SEX—just a touch of the hand.

BETHESDA

DEAR BETHESDA: I'm all for showing affection and plenty of it, but when a man tries to FORCE his daughter-in-law to kiss him on the lips (as was plainly stated in the letter) I draw the line. If it's good clean fun, Dad, a hug or a kiss on the cheek will convey the affectionate message.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED PARENTS IN PITTSBURGH: No. We don't need a "new" code of morals. What we need is the courage and wisdom to live up to the old ones.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Scioto Chapel Women
Hear Talk On Retardation

Scioto Chapel Women's Society met recently in the Parish House with 21 members and 5 guests present.

The group joined in singing "Love Divine." Mary Holbrook read "By This All Men Shall Know" and closed the devotions with prayer.

Mrs. Robert Drummond, the new president, presided over the business meeting. She replaces Mrs. Ben Walker who resigned due to taking a full time job. Mrs. Harold Fee was elected vice president.

Mrs. Mabel Isham and Mrs. Fee thanked the society for the fruit baskets they received while ill.

Announcement was made that services will be held 7:30 p.m. on Palm Sunday. Rev. Leonard Williams will show slides of the Holy Land taken when on a trip there recently by he and his wife. A discussion was held on more missionary work being done by the church in the coming year.

Mrs. Fannie Brooks, program chairman, led the group in singing "When Love Shines In." She introduced Mrs. Frank Beard of the First Baptist Church in Ashville, and Mrs. Donald Huff, wife of the workshop director at the Brooks-Yates School. Mrs. Beard sang "A Child Of The King" and Mrs. Alice Ward sang "A Little Bit Of Love."

Mrs. Brooks talked of retardation, using as her theme "Sweet And Love." She explained the function of the Brooks-Yates School and gave a reading entitled "What Is This Thing Called Love?" She and Mrs. Huff displayed several items made in the workshop under the direction of Mr. Huff. Articles made by the boys are for sale to the public. Mrs. Brooks closed the program by reading the poem "Heaven's Very Special Child."

Refreshments were served by the hostesses. The door prize was won by Mrs. Beard.

The next meeting will be held March 13 with Mrs. Fannie Brooks, Mrs. Mary Besanson, Mrs. Mildred Koch and Mrs. Elizabeth Downs as committee members.

Claim Laird Uses
Man Of Year Mirror

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maxine Cheshire, Washington Post columnist, says Defense Secretary Melvin Laird boosts his spirits every morning by tying his tie in front of a mirror framed to look like the cover of Time magazine.

The bottom of the mirror bears the inscription "Man of the year."

For an attractive and good tasting topping for cooked spinach, sprinkle with sieved hard-cooked eggs and finely diced pimiento. This topping is fine for plain seasoned spinach or the creamed variety.

Shaw Trial Resumes; Jury
Hears Frontal Attack Idea

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — After a Mardi Gras layoff, Clay Shaw's trial on a charge of conspiring to assassinate President Kennedy gets back to a Kansas pathologist and the Zapruder film.

Dr. John M. Nichols of Prairie Village, Kan., a Kansas City suburb, testified Monday that a study of the home movie showing the assassination indicates the President could have been shot from in front.

The sequestered Criminal District Court jurors, guarded by deputies, were seated on an isolated balcony overlooking the Rex parade—but spent most of the time during Mardi Gras at their hotel.

Shaw, 55, a retired businessman, had a quiet holiday with friends. He has been free on $10,000 bond since his arrest by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison in 1967.

Garrison's attempt to show that President Kennedy was shot by a gunman in front as well as behind him, that conspirators set up a crossfire in Dallas' Dealey Plaza Nov. 22, 1963.

The Warren Commission Report said Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, shot the President from a building facing Dealey Plaza as the motorcade passed through.

The autopsy report said scientific examination established beyond doubt that the bullets came from the rear.

Garrison is trying to subpoena the autopsy's detailed report, with its 45 photographs and 24 X-rays, for study by pathologists of his choice.

The report was given to the National Archives by the Kennedy family with instructions that it be kept secret until 1971—and then opened only to investigators who would not make "undignified and sensational" use of it.

In Washington, a General Sessions Court judge directed that the autopsy report, Oswald's rifle and other items be sent to the Shaw trial. However, the Justice Department gave notice of appeal.

Guild 47

Berger Hospital Guild 47 met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. David Caudill, 374 Eva Drive.

Mrs. Lawrence Pritchard, chairman, reported on the General Guild meeting. Plans were made for a bake sale to be held April 5.

The travelling prize was won by Mrs. James Hinton.

Following the business session Mrs. Fernandos Mullitt served refreshments.

Other members present were Mrs. James Crabtree, Mrs. Terry Agin, Mrs. Larry Pontious and Mrs. Harold Reed.

Claim Laird Uses
Man Of Year Mirror

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maxine Cheshire, Washington Post columnist, says Defense Secretary Melvin Laird boosts his spirits every morning by tying his tie in front of a mirror framed to look like the cover of Time magazine.

The bottom of the mirror bears the inscription "Man of the year."

For an attractive and good tasting topping for cooked spinach, sprinkle with sieved hard-cooked eggs and finely diced pimiento. This topping is fine for plain seasoned spinach or the creamed variety.

Shaw Trial Resumes; Jury
Hears Frontal Attack Idea

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — After a Mardi Gras layoff, Clay Shaw's trial on a charge of conspiring to assassinate President Kennedy gets back to a Kansas pathologist and the Zapruder film.

Dr. John M. Nichols of Prairie Village, Kan., a Kansas City suburb, testified Monday that a study of the home movie showing the assassination indicates the President could have been shot from in front.

The sequestered Criminal District Court jurors, guarded by deputies, were seated on an isolated balcony overlooking the Rex parade—but spent most of the time during Mardi Gras at their hotel.

Shaw, 55, a retired businessman, had a quiet holiday with friends. He has been free on $10,000 bond since his arrest by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison in 1967.

Garrison's attempting to show that President Kennedy was shot by a gunman in front as well as behind him, that conspirators set up a crossfire in Dallas' Dealey Plaza Nov. 22, 1963.

The Warren Commission Report said Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, shot the President from a building facing Dealey Plaza as the motorcade passed through.

The autopsy report said scientific examination established beyond doubt that the bullets came from the rear.

Garrison is trying to subpoena the autopsy's detailed report, with its 45 photographs and 24 X-rays, for study by pathologists of his choice.

The report was given to the National Archives by the Kennedy family with instructions that it be kept secret until 1971—and then opened only to investigators who would not make "undignified and sensational" use of it.

In Washington, a General Sessions Court judge directed that the autopsy report, Oswald's rifle and other items be sent to the Shaw trial. However, the Justice Department gave notice of appeal.

Apollo 9 Orbital Mission To Be Toughest Yet Attempted

The Circleville Herald,
Wed. Feb. 19, 1969 7
Circleville, Ohio

EDITOR'S NOTE—On Feb. 28 three astronauts are scheduled to be shot into space in another step toward the goal of landing U.S. spacemen on the moon by mid-1969. The Apollo 9 mission is described as probably the most complex of the manned flights yet. Here, in the first of three articles on Apollo 9, Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt, who will command the flight, gives his view of the venture.

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — "I wouldn't give you two dollars a day for a room in it. But it's designed to land us on the moon."

That's Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt describing the fragile lunar module which he will help test on the Apollo 9 flight scheduled to start from Cape Kennedy Feb. 28.

McDivitt will command the flight. With him will be Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart.

They are to orbit the earth for 10 days in one of the most complex man in space flights yet attempted. Many rate it tougher than the Apollo 8 moon orbit mission.

The major goal, McDivitt said, is to give the lunar module, called a LEM, its first manned test in space. The LEM looks like a giant bug, like something you might find crawling around the pipes in your basement.

"My impression when I first saw a LEM," McDivitt said, "was 'Holy Moses, we're going to really fly that thing in space?'"

"It's a very flimsy craft—like a tissue paper spacecraft," he continued. "If we're not careful, we could easily put a foot through it."

"It has an entirely different mission than any other spacecraft has ever had. Other spacecraft had to withstand re-entry G's, earth landing with parachutes and had a pretty rough environment to live in."

"The LEM isn't like that," he said. "It is not designed to re-enter the atmosphere or make hard landings. It will fly only in the vacuum of space and not in any atmosphere. It is intended to make a soft landing on the moon."

McDivitt noted there aren't any seats in it, that the two men who pilot it must do so standing up. That's because weight is very critical in the vehicle and because it's not intended to support life for more than a day or so while astronauts are on the moon.

"It's not designed for comfort," McDivitt said. "When they want to rest on the moon they'll have to lie on the floor or against the equipment bays."

When Apollo 9 is launched by a Saturn 5 rocket, McDivitt, Scott and Schweickart will ride in the main Apollo ship, with the LEM resting in an adapter section between the third stage and the spaceship.

Once in orbit 118 miles high, the astronauts separate the main ship, called a command module, and turn around to dock with the LEM, pulling it free on the third stage.

"When you put the LEM and command module together you have a pretty big mass weighing about 90,000 pounds," McDivitt said. "It's a completely new guidance task from what we experienced on Apollo 7 and Apollo 8."

"Our job on Apollo 9 is to prove in earth orbit that we can actually fly this gigantic mass to the moon, stop it there and perform a lunar landing with the LEM."

"Ours is a very complex flight because we are flying two vehicles for the first time, and on the fourth day they'll be as much as 100 miles apart, with two men in the LEM and one in the command module."

McDivitt said that on the second day he and Schweickart will crawl through a connecting tunnel into the LEM and activate its systems.

On the third day, Schweickart is to step outside the LEM for a two-hour space walk during which he'll evaluate the suit that later astronauts will wear while strolling on the moon.

Previous U.S. space walkers were connected by hoses to the spaceship's life support system. Schweickart will be kept alive by oxygen and other equipment carried in a pack on his back. To keep from floating too far away, he will be tied to the LEM by a 25-foot cord.

"While outside," McDivitt explained, "Rusty will try to develop the techniques by which we can transfer from the LEM to the command module in case the tunnel is blocked or if we have a problem where we can't dock the vehicles."

Gripping handrails, Schweickart will make his way along the sides of the two joined vehicles to the command module. Scott will open the hatch to permit the lower half of Schweickart's body to enter. After a rest period, Schweickart will return to the LEM along the same hand-rail route.

On the fourth day, McDivitt and Schweickart will separate the LEM from the command module and fly to a point 109 miles away. Then they'll start a tricky rendezvous exercise to return to a linkup with Scott.

The rendezvous will simulate as closely as possible that which will be made by two LEM astronauts when they leave the moon to catch up with the command module pilot who has been orbiting while they've been exploring below.

"I guess you'd probably call this the most critical phase of the Apollo 9 mission," McDivitt said. "The LEM has no heat shield and no tether so it can't re-enter the atmosphere. It's essential that the LEM returns to the command module in order to get home."

He said if everything goes right, only the LEM engines and guidance and navigation systems will be used to conduct the rendezvous.

"But Dave in the command module will be prepared to make the maneuvers to come and get us if something goes wrong with the LEM," he said.

Although the rendezvous will take about six hours, McDivitt said "it will probably seem like three or four days."

After the linkup, McDivitt and Schweickart will crawl back through the tunnel into the main cabin with Scott and the LEM will be kicked away into space so that ground stations can send signals to fire its engine in a series of tests.

"At the end of five days," McDivitt reported, "we've accomplished something like 90 per cent of the mission objectives. During the final five days we'll continue to obtain further data on the operation of the command and service modules and their systems."

The service module is attached to the rear of the command module and contains life support, electrical and other equipment.

Asked about his confidence in the flight, the commander replied:

"Well, I'm confident something's not going to work, because you can't put that many things together and have it all work. But I have confidence in the hardware and I'm confident we'll complete a very very complicated mission."

"If so, we'll accomplish an awful lot toward being able to land on the moon."

If Apollo 9 succeeds, the Apollo 10 crew will fly with a LEM into moon orbit in May to test the space vehicles in the lunar environment, with two men descending to within 10 miles of the surface in the bug-like craft. After that, if there are no problems, the Apollo 11 team will attempt the historic lunar landing possible in June or July.

Ask More Funds To Pay Courts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud said Tuesday he will ask the state emergency board to appropriate $600,000 to enable the state to pay criminal court costs for the rest of this fiscal year.

Cloud originally had planned to ask for a deficiency appropriation from the legislature.

But since funds will run out this month and more will be needed immediately to last through June 30, Cloud said he will make the request of the emergency board Thursday.

Testimony On Sirhan Gun Practice Heard

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The odyssey of a small revolver—from its purchase at a time of civil strife to the fateful moment when it was fired at the head of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—is unfolding before a jury trying Sirhan Bishara Sirhan for murder.

Two witnesses told Tuesday of seeing Sirhan at a firing range June 4, 1968, watching him shoot furiously at a target and asking the rangemaster for "the best box of shells you have—and I want some that will not misfire."

Some 12 hours later Kennedy lay on a kitchen floor in the Ambassador Hotel, bleeding from a fatal head wound; the cheers of his followers still ringing as they celebrated his California presidential primary victory.

The state's witness scheduled today included:

—Mrs. Albert Hertz of Suburban Alhambra, whose husband bought the .22-caliber Iver Johnson 8-shot revolver in 1965—at the time of the Watts racial riots;

—Mrs. Robert F. Westlake of near San Francisco, the Hertz's daughter-in-law who was given the weapon after tensions abated;

—George Erhardt, 19, a family friend who lives in Pasadena and received the gun from Mrs. Westlake in late 1967. The state, in its opening statement, said Erhardt sold the gun for $25 to Munir Sirhan—the 21-year-old brother of the defendant.

Henry Adrian Carreon, a police science major at East Los Angeles College, testified Tuesday he was shooting at the San Gabriel Valley Gun Club in Duarte when his attention was attracted by rapid firing on the pistol range.

"I went over there to see what was going on," Carreon said. "He was just trying to shoot as fast as he could."

Carreon identified the man he saw as Sirhan, and placed the time at around noon on June 4—primary election day. Around Sirhan, Carreon said, lay 300 to 400 empty bullet casings and 5 or 6 empty shell boxes.

The prosecution is attempting to establish a case of premeditation to counter defense claims that Sirhan was confused and intoxicated when he shot Kennedy and that the killing was undeliberate.

Everett C. Buckner, rangemaster at the gun club, said Sirhan signed the practice roster at the club on June 4. He told the jury Sirhan "came up to me and said I want the best box of shells you have and I want some that will not misfire."

The defense, on cross examination, reminded Buckner that he once told police there was a lady with Sirhan and "she said to him 'get out of here God damn you, or somebody will recognize us.'"

A. I said it sounded something like that.

Q. Weren't you given a lie detector test?

A. Yes.

Q. And you flunked

A. On that question.

Later, Buckner was asked again if at any time he had heard a lady make such a statement and his answer was "no."

In Sirhan's pockets at the time of arrest was $410.60 and some newspaper clippings, one of the arresting officers testified.

The clippings, read in court, included a column by syndicated writer David Lawrence taking Kennedy to task for "inconsistencies" in favoring more arms to Israel while opposing U.S. military aid in southeast Asia.

Another clipping was a political advertisement—an invitation to see Kennedy June 2 at the Ambassador Hotel. The state has said it will prove Sirhan visited the scene of the shooting at that time.

Study Bills On Pep Pills, Glue Sniffing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Children are the most common users of amphetamines and barbiturates, according to witnesses appearing Tuesday before a House committee hearing testimony on two bills introduced by Rep. George Mastic, R-52 Fairview Park.

Mastic's measures are aimed at the peddler of pep pills and those who knowingly sell glue or other items as inhalants.

Lakewood Police Det. Ed Patrick said the user of glue usually graduates to amphetamines, marijuana and then to heroin. He said most of the city's runaways in 1968, averaging 14 in age, left home because they had been using drugs.

Bay Village, a Cleveland suburb with 17,000 people, has had 19 drug complaints involving 50 users so far this year, compared to none in 1967, Det. Ronald Brown testified.

Mastic told of a survey of 5,542 Hamilton County High school students that showed that 18 per cent use "speed" or pep pills, 16 per cent use glue or other inhalants and 6 per cent barbiturates or sleeping pills.

The Ohio State Board of Pharmacy has endorsed the two bills but many merchants feel it puts them on the spot if they sell glue later used as an inhalant.

Under the proposed measure, youths who use glue would be charged with misdemeanor, while peddlers could be charged with a felony punishable by a prison term.

2 Ohio GIs Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported Tuesday that two Ohioans, Army Spec. 4 Gary L. Dubach of Ashtabula and Marine Lance Cpl. Raymond J. Baldauf of North Ridgeville have been killed in recent action in Vietnam.

There are 22 predatory animal districts in Wyoming for the eradication of animals that prey upon and destroy livestock.

Christine Didn't Know New Heart Was Coming

By JOHN CHACE
AND BYRON BEARD
Associated Press Writers
CINCINNATI (AP) — How do you tell a 6-year-old girl who trusts you above all others that she's going into surgery for a new heart?

In the case of Christine Corhn, she knew only that the doctors were going to examine her. It was only a bare truth, but her parents felt it was best that way. "At the time she didn't know what was going to happen," Mrs. Wallace Corhn said. "All she knew was that she was going to meet the doctors."

No doubt Christine was filled with child wonderment as she watched the faces of her parents grow smaller and smaller down the hallway on the fifth floor at Children's Hospital on Feb. 8. But there was little time to wonder. She lay still as the surgical nurse wheeled her into the operating room.

Nine and a half hours later the slip of a girl was taken into the recovery room. She had a new heart.

The unknown loomed just as large — perhaps larger — over the Wallace Corhns. They had to make the decision within hours to send their child into heart transplant surgery.

Today — the 11th day since the transplant — Christine continues to improve. She has been able to get out of bed for short periods of time and sit in a chair to watch television.

There have been no signs of her body rejecting the heart she received from 7-year-old William "Mike" Becker of nearby Loveland.

Christine, described by hospital administrator Robert Southwick as "a beautiful girl with a wee smile", has captured the hearts of all those around her.

Hospitals are nothing new to Christine who was suffering from a severely malformed heart. She's been in and out of Children's since birth.

Corhn said that he and his wife had been informed, before even thinking about a transplant, that Christine "might go at any time. We knew she would get worse as time progressed. No one could really tell how long she would live."

Christine's grandmother, Mrs. Allie West, said the girl has also spent some time at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., but "they said nothing could be done."

The Corhns said progress being made with transplants in the past few months gave them a little hope that maybe one would work with Christine.

"But we just knew that most cases like hers died at an early age," Corhn added.

Christine's transplant was only the fourth performed with children or infants. The previous three were unsuccessful.

Corhn said they had not discussed the possibility of a transplant with surgeons at Children's.

"They had probably been thinking about it, but probably didn't want to alarm us. They knew her condition."

They were informed of the possibility last Friday, about 1½ days after the Becker boy suffered critical injuries in an auto accident and doctors did not feel he would live. Christine was taken to the hospital Friday night. Mike died Saturday, 30 minutes before the transplant began.

The young girl started first grade classes last September but had to be taken out because she could not stand the physical exertion. She was tutored at home.

"The tutor says she does better than the average student her age," Corhn said.

Five Points News

By Mrs. Francis Furniss

There were 42 present at the United Methodist Sunday School Sunday morning. Worship services followed. The MYF met at the Church Sunday evening. A roller skating party is planned for Feb. 27 at Washington Court House.

The Monroe Township Advisory Council No. 10 held their February meeting Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tallman Sr. Mr. Tallman opened the meeting and heard the reports. Miss Laura Long, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting and reported on the Ham Supper held last month. Mr. Dale Stubbs, discussion leader, presented the topic, "Will Non-Agricultural Corporations Dominate Agriculture?" which was read and discussed. At the close of the meeting tempting refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Clark Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss, Miss Laura Long and Mr. Dale Stubbs. The March meeting will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Follrod.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shell and little son Jon of Fort Ackison, Wisconsin, returned home last Wednesday after spending several days with their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shell and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bailey. Mr. Shell attended the Dairy Convention at Ohio State University while they were here.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss and Miss Laura Long were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hulls in Chillicothe and later Sunday evening visited with Mr. and Mrs. George Donohoe in Atlanta. Additional Sunday guests in the Donohoe home were Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Donohoe and son Robin of near Washington C.H. and Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Briggs of New Holland.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the Bryan Downs family in the passing of Mrs. Downs. They were former residents of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Porter and grandsons Mack, J. B. and Eric were Sunday evening guests of Mrs. Bertha Porter in Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finch were Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Horch of Plain City.

Mrs. Joe Sheets, Mrs. Clark McCafferty, Miss Laura Long, Mrs. Harry J. Smith, Mrs. Russell Beckett, and Mrs. Clara Woods, members of the Monrovia Garden Club conducted the therapy program and entertained the parents at Orient State School to a Valentine Party Tuesday. The group made clever Valentines

DONATES BODY—Dr. Denton Cooley, who leads in heart transplant surgery with 17, signs away his body in Houston, Tex., to The Living Bank for use in transplants after his death. He has been frustrated for lack of donors of vital organs. "We lost four persons on our recipient list last week," he said.

Airborne geologists, using an infrared scanner as an aerial divining rod over the coast of Hawaii, have charted underground streams of rainwater flowing toward the sea.

and refreshments of cookies, candy and punch were served to 33 patients.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cail were hosts to their Darby Valley Advisory Council Saturday evening. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dick and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Reid and family and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Streitenberger and family.

Mrs. Edna Turner of Unionville Center and Mrs. Cecil Davis of Columbus were week-end guests of their brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finch. Additional Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Finch and children Melinda, Marijane, Roger and Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Finch and children Kimberley Sue, Dennis and Amy and Mr. and Mrs. Robert See, Chris Ann and Todd.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Writsel, Mr. and Mrs. George Kern and Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Liston attended the Vacation and Sports Show at the State Fairgrounds in Columbus Saturday evening.

Steal $160,000, Miss $160,000

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) — Seven men, some said to be armed with machine guns, held up the San Rafael gambling casino and made off with $160,000 in cash Tuesday.

The gunmen overtook another $160,000 in cash in the casino strongbox.

Police said the gunmen may be "Tupamaros", a secret Peking Communist terrorist organization.

'Red Tape Worm' Hampers Food Outlays

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Southern senator who admits once covering up a hunger problem in his state says the federal government should put the same effort into ending malnutrition that it expended sending men to the moon.

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., Tuesday told a Senate committee investigating malnutrition that just as the United States 10 years ago set out to conquer space, the government "should set as a national goal the elimination of hunger and slum conditions in America."

Last April, a group organized by the Citizens' Crusade Against Poverty reported that 16 of South Carolina's 46 counties were "hunger counties" with serious nutrition problems.

Hollings admitted to the select committee on nutrition and human rights that as governor from 1959 to 1963 he and other South Carolina officials deliberately covered up the state's problem in an effort to boost its industrial development.

"We didn't want the vice president of the plant in New York to know the burdens" of locating in South Carolina, he said.

"We told him only of the opportunities. You don't catch industry with worms—maybe fish, but not industry."

Now, he said, "We should be ashamed of this hunger. I know as a public official I am late to this problem." But "government is the art of the feasible and, financially, it is impossible for the state to solve this problem."

The federal government "must cut through the bottle-necks and coordinate so that food reaches the hungry rather than giving them scientific studies as to why we think they may be hungry," he said. "The federal red-tape worm should be exterminated."

Noting that 10 years ago the federal government set out to conquer space and build a nationwide highway system, Hollings said the end of hunger and slums should be a new national priority for the next decade.

Gas Company To Replace 8-Inch Line

Work will begin soon on a $17,800 Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., pipeline replacement project in downtown Circleville to assure continued dependable natural gas service to gas company customers in Circleville.

Charles R. Baker, Circleville manager for the gas company, said more than a quarter of a mile of new pipeline — eight inches in diameter — will be constructed along Court Street one block north and south of Main Street. The line will be laid along the east side of North Court Street and along the west side of South Court Street.

The new pipeline will be coated and wrapped for permanent protection against rust and corrosion. In addition, it will be pneumatically tested at greater pressure than it ever will have to withstand when carrying natural gas. In addition, 500 feet of 2-inch gas line will be replaced on Park St. at a cost of $3,000.

Baker said traffic will be maintained during construction. Ohio Pipeline Co., Newark, will install the new line for Columbia Gas of Ohio. The project is expected to take 30 days to complete.

'Red Tape Worm' Hampers Food Outlays

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Southern senator who admits once covering up a hunger problem in his state says the federal government should put the same effort into ending malnutrition that it expended sending men to the moon.

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., Tuesday told a Senate committee investigating malnutrition that just as the United States 10 years ago set out to conquer space, the government "should set as a national goal the elimination of hunger and slum conditions in America."

Last April, a group organized by the Citizens' Crusade Against Poverty reported that 16 of South Carolina's 46 counties were "hunger counties" with serious nutrition problems.

Hollings admitted to the select committee on nutrition and human rights that as governor from 1959 to 1963 he and other South Carolina officials deliberately covered up the state's problem in an effort to boost its industrial development.

"We didn't want the vice president of the plant in New York to know the burdens" of locating in South Carolina, he said. "We told him only of the opportunities. You don't catch industry with worms—maybe fish, but not industry."

Now, he said, "We should be ashamed of this hunger. I know as a public official I am late to this problem." But "government is the art of the feasible and, financially, it is impossible for the state to solve this problem."

The federal government "must cut through the bottlenecks and coordinate so that food reaches the hungry rather than giving them scientific studies as to why we think they may be hungry," he said. "The federal red-tape worm should be exterminated."

Noting that 10 years ago the federal government set out to conquer space and build a nationwide highway system, Hollings said the end of hunger and slums should be a new national priority for the next decade.

When Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., tried to pin the blame for failure of food programs on local officials, Hollings responded: "Pin it there. There's still no food."

"We've got to get more food and this committee can do it," he declared. "We've got to bring pressure at every level." But he said the state could not solve the problems alone.

Hollings' fellow Senator, Republican Strom Thurmond, apparently has modified his earlier opposition to the investigation.

"I look forward to hearing the views of those who have made an in-depth study of these problems," he said in a statement in Tuesday's Congressional Record. "The main concern should be to find the most effective way to resolve these needs."

Gas Company To Replace 8-Inch Line

Work will begin soon on a $17,800 Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., pipeline replacement project in downtown Circleville to assure continued dependable natural gas service to gas company customers in Circleville.

Charles R. Baker, Circleville manager for the gas company, said more than a quarter of a mile of new pipeline — eight inches in diameter — will be constructed along Court Street one block north and south of Main Street. The line will be laid along the east side of North Court Street and along the west side of South Court Street.

The new pipeline will be coated and wrapped for permanent protection against rust and corrosion. In addition, it will be pneumatically tested at greater pressure than it ever will have to withstand when carrying natural gas. In addition, 500 feet of 2-inch gas line will be replaced on Park St. at a cost of $3,000.

Baker said traffic will be maintained during construction. Ohio Pipeline Co., Newark, will install the new line for Columbia Gas of Ohio. The project is expected to take 30 days to complete.

Massive Security To Mark Nixon's European Trip

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Police of six nations, working under understandable tension, are completing plans to protect President Nixon against organized demonstrators and individual fanatics and screwballs during his European tour.

Views On TV - Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Geographic Society special, "60 Minutes," like situation comedies and westerns, have their ups and downs. But since both CBS shows are thoughtfully and intelligently put together, they make pretty good viewing even on nights when they are a little off pace.

The National Geographic show suffered primarily because it tackled a subject impossible to handle in an hour—the entire continent of Australia.

The program consisted principally of film shot by some boid adventurers traveling by car across the vast "out-back," rugged, sparsely-inhabited desert. Most interesting portions showed the lonely life on a cattle ranch 150 miles from the nearest town. The owner's children get their education by two-way radio and a distant doctor prescribed medicine by microphone after hearing the symptoms.

There was not, apparently, enough significant film made by the expedition to fill the hour, so some other material was shot to pad it out. Thus there was some scanty, tantalizing footage showing the primitive Aborigines, a fascinating subject to explore. There was pure filler shots of Sydney, a modern city, of horse races, rugby matches, beer drinkers and sheep shearing. We only had one brief look at a koala, and not a glimpse of a kangaroo.

Meanwhile, NBC's long-sought answer to the CBS series, will come along this spring, a science series with Hugh Downs as reporter-narrator. The first will show the first inhabitants of America and Downs has been traveling widely getting material for it.

"60 Minutes" kicked off its bi-weekly show with a disturbing inspection of some Arkansas families, who are poverty-stricken and without enough to eat.

The families were being studied by a presidential commission concerned with poverty and the welfare system. One man, a $60-a-week tractor operator with a big family was unable to get steady work and unable to get welfare help because he was "able bodied."

Another very sick man and his ailing wife had 10 children—and welfare payments were woefully inadequate for their needs.

Mike Wallace went to Germany for his interview with a 23-year-old radical, Daniel Cohn-Bendit, a leader in last May's student insurrection in Paris.

Cohn-Bendit smilingly expounded his aim to overthrow all traditional governments, destroy "the structure of capitalist societies"—including Russian "state capitalism"—and replace them with some sort of people-to-people relationship.

Cohn-Bendit, merrily fielding Wallace's increasingly tough-tongued questions, didn't really make much sense, but he did make Wallace sound testy and slightly condescending—particularly as they wrangled over whether Lyndon B. Johnson and Richard M. Nixon are "intelligent"—by Cohn-Bendit's definition.

There was also a look at the billion-dollar ski boom. Commentator Heywood Hale Broun bought himself more than $600 worth of basic skis, bindings, thermal underwear and stretch pants to demonstrate where it begins and the feature moved on to explore the boy-meets-girl attractions of the apres-ski hours of the nation's snow spots.

In Britain, France, Belgium, Germany and Italy, security agents are charting routes, vantage points for potential assassins, assembly points for demonstrators and compiling lists of local "nuts" who might do something weird if they got the chance.

American Secret Service men are in London, Paris, Brussels, Bonn, West Berlin and Rome coordinating arrangements with local authorities.

Cmdr. John Lawlor of Scotland Yard, who dealt with the riots at the American Embassy last year, has sent a list of potential troublemakers, including Continental agitators, to all immigration officers.

Militant opponents of the Vietnam war have served notice they intend to give the President a hot time in London. Edward Davoren, secretary of the Revolutionary Student Federation, claims that 50 organizations have formed a "Hot Reception for Nixon Committee." He promised 60,000 at one demonstration before the U.S. Embassy on Monday, before Nixon's arrival.

London police will as usual be out in force with their familiar truncheons as the President moves about London. But the Home Office has issued special permission for American security officers attached to the President to carry guns.

Business Briefs

Donna Osbourne, Route 1, Laurelville, and Paul Spung, Route 4, won door prizes at Cellar Lumber Co., 766 S. Pickaway St., during the panel sale last weekend.

Paris police are planning the same protection for Nixon that they give President Charles de Gaulle. That is considerable.

Police will line roads and streets, spaced 50 yards apart. Firemen and police will be stationed on rooftops. Plainclothesmen will mingle with the crowds. Traffic will be stopped on the presidential routes, and Nixon's motorcade will travel at very high speed. Any unusual assembly will be promptly broken up, and not too gently at that.

Bonn and West Berlin present special problems in the light of their proximity to Communist East Germany as well as the presence of energetic leftist students from many countries who attend West German universities.

West Berlin will have 13,000 uniformed police on standby, with possibly half on special duty. American troops and public safety officers will be mobilized as well.

But no trouble is expected from East Berlin. The Soviets have a habit of telling their satellite to cool it when such a personage as an American president is in town. Hotheads in West Berlin may be inspired by Communist propaganda but they won't have Kremlin support.

Rome is expecting some flurry of protest but only from maverick extreme leftists. The big Italian Communist party seems more pleased at Nixon's visit than against it.

Massive police forces are being assigned to the President's routes—from the airport to the Quirinal to the Vatican, and to the American Embassy—but they expect mostly an enthusiastic welcome from the largely pro-American Italians.

Nixon's plans to traverse Rome by automobile wipes out some annoyance caused by President Johnson's visit on Christmas Eve 1967. Johnson helicoptered about and never set foot in Rome's streets; security plans involving thousands of men largely went for nothing.

An over-all look gives the impression that Nixon in Europe will be in somewhat different a position than President Johnson was in 1967. Nixon has not been tagged with the Vietnam label, for one thing. But security agent dealing with the trip probably all think like the Scotland Yard man who said:

"Even if the protests peter out into lunatic fringe things, there still is the odd man out who feels a grudge or imagines he is a deliverer. Anyone can find a gun, and a man need not be sane in order to shoot straight."

CREATE LIFE—Cambridge University scientists Drs. Patrick Steptoe and Robert Edwards smile as they announce in London that they have produced the beginning of a baby by fertilizing a woman's ovum in a test tube. The foetus was destroyed, they said.

we care

A&P how many ribs in a pork loin rib portion?

We think there should be seven.
Not five or six.
With A&P's seven-rib portion, you get more of the select meat.

How can you tell how many ribs you're getting?
It's easy.
With your fingers, you can feel and count the rib bones in the package.

Next time you're buying a Pork Loin Rib Portion, check it.
If you can't count one, two, three, four, five, six, seven ribs, you're missing select meat.
You're not getting the best value for your meat dollar.

Seven-Rib Pork Loin Portions are just one example of the full value A&P meats offer.

We think that caring like this about fair portions has helped make A&P America's largest meat retailer.

When you think about it, shouldn't A&P be your store?

Basketball tournaments are the beginning of a new season — a season that in many instances is a very brief one.

The Teays Valley tournament site will undoubtedly be filled to capacity when the local teams — Logan Elm, Westfall, Amanda, and Canal Winchester — play. All have had comparatively successful seasons. People will complain of the inconveniences of standing in line. But many of the older fans can recall standing in line for hours when the old county tournaments were staged at the Circleville Athletic Club.

The Teays Valley site is adequate for most games. Last Friday, for instance, only a handful of people were on hand for the Wehrle-West Jefferson and the Academy-Madison South games.

Tournament officials were prepared to split double-headers if two good "drawing cards" were scheduled the same night.

Former Circleville Coach Chuck Hill has just completed a successful year at Danville. Hill's team there finished the season with a 13-4 record and was tied with Newark Catholic for the Mid-Buckeye League basketball title.

Russ Gregg, who played at Ashville High School and coached at Jackson Twp., Ashville and Teays Valley High Schools has also had a successful year at Whitehall. He finished the season with a 12-6 record.

Keith Merrin, who never had a losing season at Logan Elm, returned to his alma mater, Mt. Vernon, and wound up with a 3-15 record this year.

Sportsmanship is for the adult fans at basketball games, as well as the students, players and coaches. It is our belief that players and students invariably conduct themselves in a well behaved manner.

Most of the unsportsmanlike conduct at an athletic contest is by the adults.

Lakers Beat Knicks, 113-109 But Coach Still Isn't Happy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Coach Butch van Breda Kolf had a hunch that even with superstars Wilt Chamberlain, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West his Los Angeles Lakers weren't going to be a super team. Good, yes; super, no.

"We just don't have the personnel to play a moving offensive game," van Breda Kolf said Tuesday night after the Lakers pinned a 113-109 defeat on New York that snapped the Knicks' club record 11-game winning streak.

"You saw us out there. We had two 7-footers in the line-up, Wilt Chamberlain and Mel Counts. There was no movement. And we lead the league in turnovers and we can't make free throws. What did we make, 27 of 48. They can't make unguarded shots from only 15 feet out and they'll probably all ask for raises."

"Johnny Egan runs the team pretty well and isn't affected by pressure defenses. But he gets murdered on defense because of his size. And when he's not in there we look like a bunch of trucks coming up court."

Chamberlain and Counts moved well enough to drop the red-hot Knicks three games behind idle Baltimore in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division. Chamberlain scored 31 points and pulled down 23 rebounds while Counts added 23 points. Walt Frazier paced the Knicks with 30.

New York led by 14 points early in the third period before Chamberlain sparked the rally that kept the Lakers 4½ games ahead of Atlanta in the West. The Hawks nipped Cincinnati 124-123.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia trimmed San Diego 125-113, Boston downed Phoenix 116-110, San Francisco stopped Detroit 121-114 and Seattle edged Chicago 114.

Hope Break In Baseball Strike Near

NEW YORK (AP) — A break in the gauntlet laid down by the major league baseball owners may come today. If it does not, a strike by the players would appear to be certain.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association, said he expected to have sometime today the result of his pool of the players' executive committee on whether to accept or reject the owners' latest offer in the pension dispute.

Miller has recommended that the committee reject the owners' offer of Monday, increasing the players pension package to $5.3 million a year, compared to the $5 million yearly that the players want.

The owners' latest offer came after they had rejected Miller's offer to submit the pension dispute to binding arbitration.

"The owners still are testing the players," Miller said. "They have laid down the gauntlet."

"The next move is up to the players," said John Gaherin, head of the owners' negotiating committee. Gaherin pointed out the owners' latest offer would increase benefits for 10-year players from $500 a month to $590. The players seek $600, plus various improvements in health and insurance benefits.

Oakland Franchise Stays In Oakland

NEW YORK (AP) — The Oakland Seals might be going places in National Hockey League standings but the franchise isn't moving.

The league made that decision Tuesday, rejecting bids by Vancouver and Buffalo groups to shift the franchise.

Indiana Defeats Minnesota; On Way Up Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Indiana, which toppled from first to fourth place in three days in the American Basketball Association's tight Eastern Division race, may be on the way up again.

The Pacers defeated Minnesota 40-133 Tuesday night to prevent the Pipers from moving into a virtual first-place tie with Miami, and leaving themselves only one percentage point out of third place.

In the only other ABA game, a 21-foot jumper by Henry Logan beat the gun to give the Oakland Oaks a 118-116 overtime victory over Denver.

The loss dropped The Rockets 11 games back of Oakland in the Western Division.

Boilermakers Nearly Wrap Up Big 10

by TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Purdue Boilermakers have just about wrapped up the Big Ten championship and a berth in the NCAA postseason tournament next month for the national collegiate basketball title.

The ninth-ranked Boilermakers did it the hard way Tuesday night. They edged Indiana on the road 96-95 and took a two-game lead over Ohio State in the Big Ten race with an assist from Illinois. The Illini, playing at home, knocked off the 10th-ranked Buckeyes 73-57.

Rick Mount threw in 32 points for Purdue, but it was Herman Gilliam's two free throws with seven seconds left that decided the issue. The two charity conversions put the Boilermakers three points ahead, enough to offset Indiana's basket at the buzzer.

"I guess this is the kind you have to win on the road," said George King, Purdue coach. "But, man, it's hard on the coach."

He was referring to Indiana's second-half rally that wiped out a 14-point deficit that tied the score before the Boilermakers pulled it out. Ken Johnson topped Hoosiers with 29 points.

Purdue has five conference games left, three at home against Northwestern, Michigan and Indiana and two on the road against Michigan State and Iowa. All the Boilermakers have to do to win the three at home and split on the road and they're in as Big Ten champs.

Illinois, No. 19 in the Associated Press rankings, opened a 10-point lead in the second half against Ohio State at 43-33 and the outcome was never in doubt thereafter. Mike Price led the Illini with 20 points. Dave Sorenson was high for the Buckeyes with 25.

In other games involving teams in the AP top 20, West Texas scored a 93-92 overtime home court triumph over 15th-ranked New Mexico State and 20th-ranked Marquette scored on the road over Xavier of Ohio 67-54.

Texas A&M tightened its hold on first place in the Southwest Conference by downing North Texas 86-74. Jim Irving's steal and lay-up with one second left gave St. Louis a 94-93 overtime victory over St. Louis.

Jim Downey's 20-foot jumper with five seconds left tied the regulation game at 61-61 and Boston College went on to defeat Georgetown, D. C., 72-66 in overtime. L. C. Bowen's 29 points paced Bradley over Memphis State 88-62 and Mike Newlin's 25 points led Utah over Oklahoma City despite Rich Travis' 39 points for the Chiefs.

Ladies Golf Tournament Faces Death

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The Ladies World Series of Golf, a highlight of the LPGA tour, may have staged its last performance—at least in this city that spawned its growth.

A decision to hold a three-day, 54-hole $20,000 tournament at the Northwood Hills Country Club here Aug. 8, 9, and 10 may have sounded the death knell for the series.

Springfield has been the site for the three previous World tournaments, a 36-hole match that brings together six of the best women golfers in the nation. First prize is worth $10,000. Play by the competitors, including such stars as Kathy Whitworth, Carol Mann and Mickey Wright, has been an artistic success. Financially, the tournament has been a flop.

Each year, almost the day after the series ends, reports start circulating that the tournament won't be back in Springfield. But someone always comes to the rescue.

This time, the knight in shining armor could be the Fraternal Order of Eagles, one of two sponsors for the 1968 event.

Robert L. Yontz, the general manager of Radio Station WBL also could be a key factor in keeping the tournament here. "I'd like to see it stay here," says Yontz, who has been involved directly or indirectly in the three previous events.

"There comes a time when you want to stop losing money. There has to be a national television sponsor if we are to succeed," Yontz said.

In 1965, the first World, with a $32,000 purse, lost $29,000 for the Buck Creek Enterprises, Inc., a stock investment club that backed the Series.

Mando Ramos New Champ

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new lightweight champion of the world is Mando Ramos, at age 20 the youngest ever to reach such a lofty position in the history of the 135-pound division in boxing.

The tousled-haired, spindly legged kid from Long Beach, Calif., won the title when he stopped 31-year-old Teo Cruz of the Dominican Republic in the 11th round of their scheduled 15-round fight Tuesday night. Cruz weighed 134, Ramos 134½.

Ramos, the ring rage of the teeny-bopper set, was six months off target. He wanted to win the title as a 19-year-old last September against the champion, Cruz.

"Sorry about that," quipped Mando when reminded of the quest which failed in the first fight with the man from Santo Domingo.

Ramos ripped open an ugly slash over Teo's left eye in the eighth round. He kept reopening it, as well as slicing a smaller cut under the eye, until the bloody drama was stopped with 19 seconds remaining in the 11th.

Gene Ford MAC Player Of Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan's versatile Gene Ford, a 6-foot-5 senior who turned in a pair of stellar performances last week, is the Mid-American Conference basketball player of the week.

Illinois Shatters Buckeyes Conference Bid, 73-57

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Illinois shattered Ohio State's Big Ten basketball title hopes Tuesday night by whipping the Buckeyes 73-57.

The loss dropped Ohio State, now 6-3, two games behind league-leading Purdue with five games left to play. Purdue squeaked by Indiana 96-95 Tuesday night for its eighth loop win against one loss.

The Illini grabbed early leads of 12-5 and 27-19 but the Bucks surged back both times to tie it up. Mike Price's three-point layup gave Illinois a 32-29 half-time lead.

Then, after the intermission, Illinois came on strong, pounding to a 43-33 lead. After that the outcome never was in doubt. Ohio State's Dave Sorenson had a game-high 25 points, while Price had 20 and Dave Scholz 18 for the Illini.

Marquette coasted past Xavier 67-54 while holding Musketeer hotshot Luther Rackley to nine points. The Warriors took an early 13-point lead and never were seriously challenged. Dean Meminger and George Thompson shared scoring honors for Marquette with 16 points each.

Baldwin-Wallace couldn't hit the basket from the free throw line as Detroit outlasted the Yellow Jackets 83-79. Baldwin-Wallace, only 5-16 from the charity stripe, led most of the first half and had regained the lead in the second period after trailing 38-34 at halftime. Then the Titans' Al Peake, who led all scorers with 24 points, put Detroit ahead 74-72 to stay with 2:31 left. Bob Harriger led the B-W attack with 19 points.

Wittenberg assured itself of at least a tie for first place in the Ohio Conference by blasting Otterbein 95-78. Wittenberg, now 11-1 in the loop, was led by Stan Starkey and Jim Thrasher with 22 and 21 points, respectively.

The Pickaway County Speed Committee has announced the 1969 harness racing dates at the county fair.

The speed program includes three races July 29 and three races Wednesday. Post time both days is 4 p.m. Purses will total $3,000.

Members of the speed committee are Harlow Arledge, chairman; Wayne Martin, Glenn McCoy and John Fissell. Fissell is the race secretary.

Set April 30 State Deadline For Pay Hikes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A public employee union official said Tuesday that April 30 is the deadline set for state employees to get pay raises.

Al Bilik, head of Council 21, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees said "state workers will not tolerate second-class salaries" after that date.

Contending that the average state workers needs a $1,500 per year wage hike and another $200 in fringe benefits, Bilik said April 30 will be "S-Day, standing either for salary or sadness."

Area Cage Teams In Tourney Play

Pickaway County and area basketball teams get in full swing in tournament play this weekend.

Westfall plays Ohio Deaf 8:30 p.m. Friday following the game between The Plains and Amanda-Clearcreek which begins at 7 p.m. at Teays Valley.

Logan Elm plays Academy 8:30 p.m. Saturday after Wehrle and Canal Winchester battle for a semi-final berth.

At the unlikely hour of 1 p.m. Saturday, Teays Valley plays Grandview in the Class AA District Tournament at the Coliseum on the Ohio State Fairgrounds, Columbus.

ZANE Trace plays Adena 7 p.m. Thursday in the Chillicothe sectional tournament. Laurelville plays Union Furnace 7 p.m. Saturday at Nelsonville.

Ohio Deaf, Westfall's opponent has a 4-10 record on the season. Westfall is the top seeded team in Teays Valley sectional and finished the season with a 12-1 record.

Academy has a 10-5 record, including one tournament win over Madison South. Logan Elm finished the regular season with a 10-7 record.

Teays Valley won nine games and lost nine games this season. Their opponent, Grandview, held an 8-9 record when the class AA tournament draw was held.

Bobby Hull Wins Lester Patrick Cup

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Hull has won enough awards and trophies in his hockey career to last him a lifetime. There have been two Hart Trophies as the National Hockey League's Most Valuable Player, three Art Ross Trophies as the scoring champion and one Lady Byng Trophy as the player best combining ability and sportsmanship.

All of the honors have been for Hull's performance on the ice as one of the most dynamic players in NHL history. That's why the Chicago Black Hawks' star left winger attaches a special significance to his latest award—the Lester Patrick Trophy presented to him at an NHL reception Tuesday night.

Circleville does not play in the AA tournament until 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The Tigers play Gahanna, a team with 16-2 season record.

Illinois Shatters Buckeyes Conference Bid, 73-57

Illinois shattered Ohio State's Big Ten basketball title hopes Tuesday night by whipping the Buckeyes 73-57.

The loss dropped Ohio State, now 6-3, two games behind league-leading Purdue with five games left to play. Purdue squeaked by Indiana 96-95 Tuesday night for its eighth loop win against one loss.

Lorenzo Hunt of Otterbein had a game-high 25.

In other Ohio Conference action, Capital grabbed an early lead and hung on to defeat Muskingum 74-69; Tom Dinger and Dick Cornwell combined for 45 points as Wooster clobbered Denison 92-75, and Oberlin, led by Vic Guerrieri and Al Wellington, with 22 and 21 points respectively, sailed past Kenyon 82-61.

The Illini grabbed early leads of 12-5 and 27-19 but the Bucks surged back both times to tie it up. Mike Price's three-point layup gave Illinois a 32-29 half-time lead.

Then, after the intermission, Illinois came on strong, pounding to a 43-33 lead. After that the outcome never was in doubt.

Ohio State's Dave Sorenson had a game-high 25 points, while Price had 20 and Dave Scholz 18 for the Illini.

Marquette coasted past Xavier 67-54 while holding Muskegeter hotshot Luther Rackley to nine points. The Warriors took an early 13-point lead and never were seriously challenged. Dean Meminger and George Thompson shared scoring honors for Marquette with 16 points each.

Baldwin-Wallace couldn't hit the basket from the free throw line as Detroit outlasted the Yellow Jackets 83-79. Baldwin-Wallace, only 5-16 from the charity stripe, led most of the first half and had regained the lead in the second period after trailing 38-34 at halftime. Then the Titans' Al Peake, who led all scorers with 24 points, put Detroit ahead 74-72 to stay with 2:31 left. Bob Harriger led the B-W attack with 19 points.

Wittenberg assured itself of at least a tie for first place in the Ohio Conference by blasting Otterbein 95-78. Wittenberg, now 11-1 in the loop, was led by Stan Starkey and Jim Thrasher with 22 and 21 points, respectively.

Bengals Complete Coaching Staff

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals have completed their coaching staff for 1969 with the addition of Vince Costello, who retired last year after playing professional football for 12 years.

Costello, who rejoins Bengals Coach - General Manager Paul Brown, will coach linebackers.

Costello played linebacker under Brown at Cleveland for seven years.

Costello, 36, a native of Magnolia, Ohio, played for the New York Giants last season.

Bobby Hull Wins Lester Patrick Cup

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Hull has won enough awards and trophies in his hockey career to last him a lifetime.

There have been two Hart Trophies as the National Hockey League's Most Valuable Player, three Art Ross Trophies as the scoring champion and one Lady Byng Trophy as the player best combining ability and sportsmanship.

All of the honors have been for Hull's performance on the ice as one of the most dynamic players in NHL history. That's why the Chicago Black Hawks' star left winger attaches a special significance to his latest award—the Lester Patrick Trophy presented to him at an NHL reception Tuesday night.

Tennis Blueprint To Be Decided

NEW YORK (AP) — The game's ruling bodies and pro bosses get together in glendon this week-end to try to draw up a blueprint for big time tournament tennis—and the man they'll be listening to is Jack Kramer.

Big Jake might not emerge as the czar of world tennis, although he has strong support for the job in high places, but there's no question that his will be an influential voice.

Clemens Scores 7

SEATTLE (AP)—Barry Clemens, the former Ohio Wesleyan University ace, scored 7 points for Chicago, which dropped a 110-106 decision to Seattle in National Basketball Association play Tuesday night.

Mando Ramos New Champ

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new lightweight champion of the world is Mando Ramos, at age 20 the youngest ever to reach such a lofty position in the history of the 135-pound division in boxing.

The tousled-haired, spindly legged kid from Long Beach, Calif., won the title when he stopped 31-year-old Teo Cruz of the Dominican Republic in the 11th round of their scheduled 15-round fight Tuesday night. Cruz weighed 134 Ramos 134½.

Ramos, the ring rage of the teeny-bopper set, was six months off target. He wanted to win the title as a 18-year-old last September against the champion, Cruz.

"Sorry about that," quipped Mando when reminded of the quest which failed in the first fight with the man from Santo Domingo.

Ramos ripped open an ugly gash over Teo's left eye in the eighth round. He kept reopening it, as well as slicing a smaller cut under the eye, until the bloody drama was stopped with 19 seconds remaining in the 11th.

Gene Ford MAC Player Of Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan's versatile Gene Ford, a 6-foot-5 senior who turned in a pair of stellar performances last week, is the Mid-American Conference basketball player of the week.

It is the second time Ford, averaging 25.3 points per game, has won the weekly honor. Last week he scored 26 points against Marshall and poured in 37 against Northern Illinois.

Checkers Winners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus Checkers broke an eight-game losing streak with a 7-4 International Hockey League victory over the Port Huron Flags Tuesday night.

Harness Dates Set For Fair

The Pickaway County Speed Committee has announced the 1969 harness racing dates at the county fair.

The speed program includes three races July 29 and three races Wednesday. Post time both days is 4 p.m. Purses will total $3,000.

Members of the speed committee are Harlow Arledge, chairman; Wayne Martin, Glenn McCoy and John Fissell. Fissell is the race secretary.

Set April 30 State Deadline For Pay Hikes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A public employee union official said Tuesday that April 30 is the deadline set for state employees to get pay raises.

Al Bilik, head of Council 21, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees said "state workers will not tolerate second-class salaries" after that date.

Contending that the average state workers needs a $1,500 per year wage hike and another $200 in fringe benefits, Bilik said April 30 will be "S-Day, standing either for salary or sadness."

Independent Cage Tourney Scheduled

The Paint Valley Lettermen's Club is sponsoring an Independent cage basketball tournament at Pain Valley High School, Bainbridge, March 10, 11, 12, 13, 17 and 19.

The tournament is a single elimination event. The Lettermen's Club hopes to have 16 teams. Entries should be sent to Mike Shoemaker or James Dunkie, Paint Valley High School, Route 1, Bainbridge.

Words Of Praise For Bliss Pour From Ohio GOP Ranks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes and Republican party leaders had words of praise Tuesday for Ray C. Bliss of Akron, who has resigned as GOP National Chairman.

Bliss was hailed as having rebuilt the GOP during the last four years and engineering the party's resurgence.

Rhodes said, "He's done an outstanding job, I was surprised to see him resign."

News of Bliss' resignation, effective in mid-April "will be received with deep regret by all Ohio Republicans," John S. Andrews, state chairman, said.

President Richard M. Nixon replied to Bliss' letter of resignation with a "salute for a job well done." The GOP leader's decision was announced at the White House.

Ohio Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray R-3 Piqua, said he heard Tuesday afternoon that Bliss had resigned and didn't want to comment until he knew the circumstances.

Bliss' move was anticipated. From the outset of the Nixon administration there were rumors the President had made another choice for chairman.

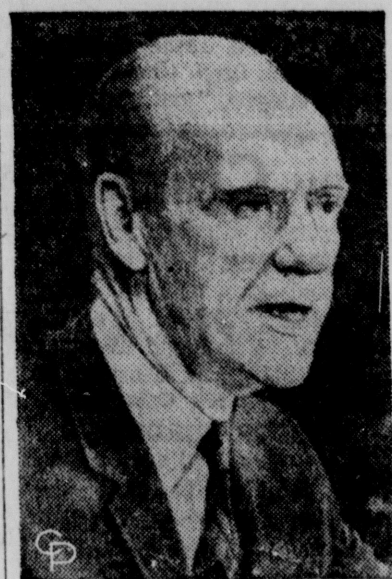

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess said Bliss led the resurgence of the GOP and "the Republican Party enjoyed the unique situation of having a real pro as its leader."

Bliss was lauded by Speaker pro tem Charles E. Fry R-9 Springfield, "I certainly hope that his successor has the track record and practical experience Ray Bliss has shown on the national level."

Andrews credited Bliss with introducing "new and thoroughly professional concepts to the national committee," which may have, "a lasting influence on the national party organization."

"Mr. Bliss has done a magnificent job over the last four years in rebuilding the Republican party nationally, just as in earlier years he led the Ohio Republican Party to a position of power and great prestige," Andrews said.

WARM TO RED CHINA — Mitchell Sharp, Canada's Minister of External Affairs, announced in Ottawa that he instructed his country's embassy in Stockholm to talk to the Red Chinese with an eye to exchange of diplomats.

Guilford Lake Water Level Lowering Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Natural Resources announced Tuesday the Guilford Lake water level would be lowered March 1 to facilitate restoration of the lake's dam.

Construction will begin the first week of April. Withdrawal of the water will take four weeks.

After repairs, and based upon average rainfall, the water level is expected to be high enough to permit limited usage of the lake by boaters, fishermen and swimmers during the coming summer and fall.

Meanwhile, the Division of Wildlife announced a fish rehabilitation program will be conducted at the 396-acre lake.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
Notice is hereby given to all interested parties that a public hearing will be held in the Council Chambers of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio on March 18, 1969 at 8:00 O'Clock P.M. for the appraisal of the annexation of land, situated in Circleville Township, Section 17, Township 11, containing approximately 4.89 acres of land as petitioned by Roy H. Huffer and others and which application has been approved by the Planning & Zoning Commission for the City of Circleville, Pickaway County State of Ohio in their letter to the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio dated February 4, 1969.

It began as a simple idea.

(Then competition started)

Ideas like products start in the humblest of ways. Particularly great ideas. But it takes more than an original genius to make these ideas grow into something big. It takes the lively competition among nationally advertised brand names. The kind that has changed the sound of music to what it is today.

Brand names are what manufacturers call their products. They put their names right on the package so you can see who they are. They work hard to make these products better. Offer brighter developments. Innovations. Consistent quality. This is how they try to outdo other brands. And they let you know about these improvements through advertising. But if they don't live up to these claims it's good-bye to their reputations. That's how competition works.

Nationally advertised brands are what we take for granted.

But we'd soon know the difference if they weren't around.

When brand names compete, products get better.

Ever notice?

It takes the lively competition among nationally advertised brand names. The kind that has changed the sound of music to what it is today.

Brand names are what manufacturers call their products. They put their names right on the package so you can see who they are. They work hard to make these products better. Offer brighter developments. Innovations. Consistent quality. This is how they try to outdo other brands. And they let you know about these improvements through advertising. But if they don't live up to these claims it's good-bye to their reputations. That's how competition works.

Nationally advertised brands are what we take for granted.

But we'd soon know the difference if they weren't around.

When brand names compete, products get better.

RED CROSS KNITTERS — A 'stitch in time' provides useful items for servicemen and veterans as proved by Red Cross volunteer knitters. Putting the final touches to an evening's work are from the left, knitting project instructors Mrs. Opal Overly and Mrs. Katharine Tadlock and volunteer knitters, Mrs. Gilbert Wamsley and Mrs. Harley Wells.

Red Cross Knitters Continue Projects For Servicemen

In 1967 donations toward the expense of the Red Cross Christmas Ditty Bags exceeded the amount spent.

In order to make sure that the funds were used toward the well-being of servicemen, as intended, a knitting project was started by Mrs. Katherine Tadlock and Mrs. Opal Overly.

They purchased yarn and enlisted help from friends and relatives. During the past year this group has produced 32 walking cast socks for hospitalized servicemen, as well as some 20 mufflers and beanies for patients in VA Hospitals.

They have now initiated regular meeting nights on the second and fourth Monday of each month for those who wish to learn to knit, as well as those who may wish to improve their skills. Since the original funds have been depleted and there are no funds for materials at this time, it will be necessary for those who wish to participate to bring their own needles and yarn for practice.

The next meeting will be 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Red Cross Chapter House, 167 Watt Street.

Ohio Fuel Gas Expands Underground Storage Wells

Work is now under way on a $1.6 million Ohio Fuel Gas Co. program to expand and improve underground natural gas storage facilities in Ohio in 1969, it was announced today.

Ohio Fuel supplies natural gas to Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., and 26 other gas companies in Ohio. Both Ohio Fuel and Columbia Gas of Ohio are part of the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

C. R. Baker, Circleville manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio, said 35 new storage wells will be drilled and 74 existing wells will be reconditioned to help provide more natural gas for the company's customers. Total cost of the work will be $1,659,500.

All of the work will be done in Ohio Fuel's 14 existing storage fields, which are strategically located throughout the state.

They are: Lucas, in Ashland and Richland Counties; Painesville, in Ashland and Richland Counties; Weaver, in Ashland, Richland and Knox Counties; Laurel, in Hocking County; Benton, in Hocking and Vinton Counties; Holmes, in Holmes County; Wellington, in Lorain and Medina Counties; Wayne, in Wayne, Ashland and Holmes Counties; Medina, in Medina County; McArthur, in Vinton County; Lorain, in Lorain County; Guernsey, in Guernsey, Muskingum and Coshocton Counties; Knox, in Knox County; and Zane, in Muskingum County.

Eight of the new storage wells will be drilled in Painesville Storage Field, five will be in Lucas, four in Weaver, two each in Benton, McArthur and Wayne, and one each in Laurel and Wellington. The exact location of the other 10 wells will be determined later this year, Baker said.

About 95 per cent of the gas used by gas company customers is purchased outside the state. During the summer, gas transported to Ohio through long-distance pipelines from the Southwest is stored in the 14 underground storage fields — natural rock formations thousands of feet underground that once held native gas.

Thus the gas is available for use the following winter. On the coldest winter days, about 55 per cent of the gas used by gas company customers comes from underground storage.

During the current winter, as much as 1,630,700,000 (1.6 billion) cubic feet of gas has been withdrawn from these storage fields in a single day, Baker said.

As customers' demands for gas increase, the gas company must increase the amount of gas stored and step up the input and output rate of the gas to and from storage.

The amount of gas that can be taken out of storage areas on cold winter days, or stored on warm summer days, depends largely on the number and capacity of storage wells.

To improve this capacity, Ohio Fuel must drill additional wells into storage fields and replace and recondition existing wells to keep their operation at maximum efficiency, Baker explained.

Local Engineer Honored With Service Award

CHARLES G. SMITH

Charles G. Smith, 145 Montclair Ave., will be honored Thursday for meritorious service by the Southern Ohio Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers.

The Meritorious Service Award, presented annually by the executive committee to an engineer who has distinguished himself and the society by outstanding work, activity and responsible leadership, will be given Smith during a dinner meeting 7:15 p.m. Thursday at Pickaway Arms.

Smith, a graduate of Parsons College and the University of Illinois with a BSCE, has served on the membership, young engineers, scholarship and nominating committees on the chapter level. He was a vice president, secretary, treasurer and two-term president of the Southern Ohio Chapter.

He served on the headquarters and chapter relations committee as chairman on the state level, and was trustee to OSPE from Southern Ohio.

HE is well known for his arrangement of chapter social affairs, especially golf outings each summer for surrounding chapters.

Smith is an administrative assistant with the Ohio Department of Highways.

New Outbreak Hits Campus In Berkeley

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new outbreak of violence and vandalism hit the University of California in Berkeley Tuesday and the current wave of student unrest spread to predominantly Negro Howard University in Washington.

Thirteen persons were arrested on the Berkeley campus after three stench bombs were set off—one in the administration building and two in a student cafeteria. Twenty-one windows were broken.

Bottles, rocks and dirt clods were hurled at policemen during the latest incident on the campus where the Third World Liberation Front has been seeking improved educational opportunities for minorities.

At Howard several hundred students occupied the law school building Tuesday morning seeking a meeting with the faculty to discuss demands. They left early today after a U.S. marshal read a temporary court injunction ordering them out.

There was no violence but protest leaders said their protest would continue today with a boycott of classes.

Elsewhere there were these developments:

Madison, Wis.—Black students called for a temporary halt in the class boycotts and disruptions ending 10 days of turmoil on campus. Chancellor H. Edwin Young said a "substantial portion" of the 1,900 National Guardsmen called out at the height of the crisis has been deactivated.

The Negroes urged whites to return to classes and win faculty over to their cause but vowed they would continue their own boycott to back a list of 13 demands including creation of an autonomous black studies department.

Chapel Hill, N.C.—Leaders of the Black Student Movement at the University of North Carolina said they would resort to "revolutionary tactics" if their demands for a black studies program and other concessions are not met by Friday.

Jerusalem has suffered as a battleground almost since it was founded 4,000 years ago.

Arsenic In Water Stirs Battle

FALLON, Nev. (AP) — For almost 30 years, this tourist-oriented cattle town's drinking water has come from two 540-foot deep wells.

So it sparked quite a furor this week when the state health officer, Dr. Edward Crippen, said he found harmful amounts of arsenic in the water—almost twice the maximum allowable under federal standards.

"There has never been a case in Fallon that medical doctors know about where any harmful effects resulted from drinking the water," snorted Merton Domonoske, acting mayor.

"There's absolutely nothing wrong with the water in this town," said bartender John Marshall, adding that just as many customers as ever ask for a shot of whisky with a water chaser.

Gov. Paul Laxalt apologized for what he called Crippen's "highly irresponsible action," stayed Crippen's order that the city get a new water supply, and directed the state Board of Health to look into the water supply promptly. He also asked for an evaluation of Crippen's action and a report "for disciplinary purposes."

Crippen, who became health officer last August, declined comment.

Fallon, a community of about 3,000 some 50 miles east of Reno, bases its economy on cattle, farming, tourists, and deer and duck hunters.

"We're upset that Fallon should become the target for this kind of publicity," Domonoske said today. "We would have thought the health department would have ascertained that there is a health danger here."

Domonoske agrees that the city's water has .09 parts arsenic per one million gallons, but says it is "pure, free of bacteria and the mineralization is quite low."

The U.S. Bureau of Public Health recommends a maximum of .05 parts arsenic per million.

"This is the same drinking water we've used since 1941," adds the mayor, "and until now the state health officer at each report has shown the water to be acceptable ... you would think that over a period of 29 years a problem would have shown up."

What's more, says Domonoske, there is far more arsenic on fresh vegetables that have been sprayed with certain chemicals to control insects.
